Mayor and Commissioner In Verbal Clash at Meeting of the Municipal Council

Commissioner Murphy Asks Mayor To Explain Statement Appearing in His Honor's Inaugural—Mayor Charges Inconsistency—"Lying Awake o' Nights" and "Remember Your Oath of Office" Part of Snappy Dialogue at Today's Meeting

A lively verbal tilt between Mayor Perry D. Thompson and Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy of the street department featured this morning's regular weekly meeting of the municipal council. It was at the tail-end of the meeting that the discussion arose when Commissioner Murphy asked the mayor to "interpret" his statement that all loans should be discussed thoroughly by the council previous to the day of their passage. The mayor proceeded to do so and the commissioner stated emphatically that he did not intend to come into the aldermanic chamber

20 times a week to discuss money matters. The mayor referred to a loan order introduced by Commissioner Murphy last year in the mayor's absence which was passed and later rescinded, the commissioner being one of the members of the council who voted to rescind it. "You commissioners weren't consistent when you voted for an order one day and then voted to rescind it and take half the money the next day," the mayor said. "I voted to rescind the order so that you wouldn't lie awake nights worrying about it," Mr. Mayor," said the commissioner. "Don't you worry about my lying awake nights," replied the mayor; "you remember your oath of office, Commissioner Murphy." "I'll do my duty," the commissioner replied. The tilt dragged the meeting out for 20 minutes after the transaction of business had been completed and lasted even after the council had formally adjourned. In the course of the meeting the mayor had referred to a part of his inaugural address in

MINE OWNERS TO ACCEPT AWARD

With a Single Reservation,
They Will Agree to Any
Decision of Commission

Will Not Be Party to Fixing
of Prices Beyond Period of
Lever Act Effectiveness

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Mine operators in the central competitive field today told the commission named to settle the bituminous coal strike that they would accept, with a single reservation, any award the commission might make.

The operators said they would not be a party to the fixing of coal prices beyond the period of effectiveness of the Lever law, the war-time measure under which the government has controlled food and fuel prices. Ralph Crows, counsel for the Central Operators, explained that without making this reservation the operators could not legally join any price-fixing agreement. He also said the operators would not make their acceptance of the commission's award contingent upon the preparation of answers to a series of questions which the operators yesterday asked the commission.

In accepting the commission's authorization, the operators, Mr. Crows said, understood that the commission's award should "of itself constitute a final contract between the miners and operators for the period of time fixed by the commission."

President Robinson reminded him that President Wilson's letter creating the commission authorized it only to make an award which might be used as "a basis for a wage contract." He asked if the operators would not modify the language in their acceptance accordingly, and Mr. Crows finally agreed that the commission should determine that point.

"The mine workers understand that the award shall be a basis of a new wage agreement and not of itself an agreement," said John L. Lewis, acting president of the mine workers. "I trust the record is not being made here which can be used subsequently as a basis for a refusal by the operators to write into a wage agreement the commission's award."

SAYS STATES CANNOT REPEAL PROHIBITION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—State legislatures cannot, under the law, repeal ratification of the constitutional prohibition amendment, Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the anti-saloon league, declared today in a statement discussing recommendations for repeal made to the lawmakers of New York by Governor Smith.

Mr. Wheeler cited the attempt of New Jersey and Ohio to withdraw ratification of the 14th amendment. Congress refused to accept the repeal and both states were counted among those voting affirmatively. Without their ratification, the amendment lacks sufficient votes to become operative.

Chief Justice Marshall was quoted by Mr. Wheeler as follows: "The principle is asserted that one legislature is competent to repeal an act which a former legislature was competent to pass. The correctness of this principle, so far as respects general legislation, can never be controverted. But if an act be done under a law, a succeeding legislature cannot undo it. The past cannot be recalled by the most absolute power."

Eight-Year-Old Elanor Petrie Dies As Result of Eating Poisoned Cookies - Other Children Ill

Case Reported to District Attorney by Medical Examiner Thomas B. Smith—Report of Contents of Arsenic Made Public at District Attorney's Office Today—Further Investigation

On Thursday, Jan. 8, eight-year-old Elanor Petrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Petrie, of 43 Crescent street, this city, was taken violently ill after eating a molasses cookie and died two days later. Two other children, Cecil, aged 5, and Erdine, aged 9, who also ate molasses cookies, became very sick but recovered. Little Elanor died Saturday, Jan. 10.

Medical Examiner Thomas B. Smith performed an autopsy on the body and as a result of his findings reported the matter to District Attorney Nathan D. Tufts. A further investigation was taken up through the district attorney's office and traces of arsenic were found in the cookies, sustaining the report of the medical examiner and other local physicians who assisted him in the autopsy.

The report of the findings of the investigation, however, was not made public until this afternoon when it was given out at the office of the district attorney and after a conference at which Medical Examiner Smith was present. Later in the day the medical examiner and State Officer Silas Smith took samples of the cookies to the Harvard medical school for further analysis; and to ascertain how much arsenic they contain.

SURVIVORS OF DISASTER TALK

Heroism of Highest Order
Shown by Crew as Vessel
Was Pounded to Pieces

Anxious Crowds Surround
Officers and Ship Owners
at Bordeaux

PARIS, Jan. 13.—The steamer Ceylan landed a number of passengers from the lost ship Afrique at La Pallice last night, according to advices to the Matin. Others were placed on shore at Port Rochefort.

BORDEAUX, Jan. 13.—Heroism of the highest order was displayed by the captain, officers and men of the steamer Afrique while the vessel was being pounded to pieces on Roche Bonne shoal, in the Bay of Biscay, Sunday night, according to survivors of the disaster.

It is not known as yet whether any lives were lost in the wreck. One life raft is still missing and is being sought by rescue steamers. It is believed Capt. Ledu of the Afrique is on board this frail craft.

"There was a most violent shock when the vessel struck the reef, but no one lost his head," said one man. "After a time the situation became impossible, heavy seas were pounding the ship incessantly and we lost touch with the steamer Ceylan. Capt. Ledu decided to abandon the ship, a very difficult operation, but the captain, officers and crew did more than their duty."

Anxious crowds today surrounded the offices of the Chargeurs Reunis, owners of the Afrique, when a list of persons who had escaped was posted. The names on the list were those of two women, a greater, a cabin boy and a dozen Senegal soldiers. The company announced the steamer Ceylan arrived at La Pallice last night with a number of the passengers and crew from the Afrique.

TAKEN TO DEER ISLAND TO INVESTIGATE ARMY AWARDS

Alleged Radicals Arrested
Here Sent to Deer Island
For Examination

Two more men arrested and taken to Deer Island by federal officers on charges of threatening to overthrow the government by force and violence, and the release of one of the Lowell men held for the past few days at the immigration detention camp there, were the outstanding developments today in the drive against the alleged reds which has been underway in this city for the past 10 days.

The men taken to Deer Island this morning are: Joseph Nadworny, 352 High street, formerly an employee at the United States Cartridge company and for several months employed in a Lawrence shoe shop, and Paul Kazura, 20 Hale street, also an employee of a local concern.

The man released is Onofrio Kulbach, 22 Abbott street, employed by David Evpak, a Post Office avenue shoemaker, who was taken to Deer Island Jan. 5. Kulbach is the second Lowell man to be released by the immigration officials at the island. His employer, Evpak, who was arrested in the first raid conducted here the night of January 2, was released last Saturday.

Nadworny, who the police allege is the secretary of the Polish Communist society of Lowell, and Kazura, were both arrested late yesterday by federal and local police at their homes. Neither offered any resistance, according to the police. With their arrests the number of Lowell suspects taken to Deer Island is increased to eight, although two, as already stated, have been released.

The arrest of Nadworny, according to Supt. Welch, resulted from the finding of a letter in the possession of an alleged "red" recently arrested in Cambridge, which was signed by Nadworny as secretary of the Polish Communist society of Lowell. The letter, according to the chief, was in reply to a request from the Cambridge man for financial assistance in radical activities there.

Nadworny, the chief, declared, owns his own home on 11th street, and his weekly wages in the Lawrence plant approximate $35.

Kazula has admitted being a member of a local society of Russian communists, Supt. Welch said. A search of his room resulted in the finding of a quantity of radical literature and photographs of Trotsky, Lenin and other prominent Russian radicals.

Federal and local police are still combing the city in search of men and women of socialistic and communist proclivities, and several more arrests are looked for.

JAPANESE ARMS FOR MEXICO

Steamer Bearing Arms and
Japanese Warship Arrive
Simultaneously

Senate Committee Gets Re-
port Federal Forces Now
Well Equipped

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 13.—The senate sub-committee investigating the Mexican situation today had a report at Manzanillo, Mexico, Dec. 21 last, for the Carranza government arrived at Manzanillo, Mexico, Dec. 21 last, simultaneously with the Japanese cruiser Takuma. The report was known at army headquarters here and was forwarded to the war department at Washington.

The Takuma apparently was escorting the ship bearing the arms and ammunition, which had been purchased in Japan through Col. Emilio Ciercos, of the Mexican army, and Manuel Perez Romero, then Mexican minister at Tokio.

Recent reports from Mexico indicate federal troops in the state of Chihuahua are better equipped than they have been for a long time. Considerable numbers of machine guns recently have been received, it is said.

ACCUSED OF VIOLATING ANTI-ANARCHY ACT

Accused of violating the anti-anarchy act, Fabian Pikarski, 21, arrested two weeks ago for the alleged sale of radical literature at a Polish meeting in Socialist hall, Middle street, was arraigned on continuance before Judge Knight in police court today and held in $500 for hearing Jan. 20. He has pleaded not guilty. Pikarski's arrest followed a visit of the police to the Middle street hall, where they allege he sold radical books and literature at prices ranging from 10 to 15 cents each. He was employed at the Merrimack Mill Co.

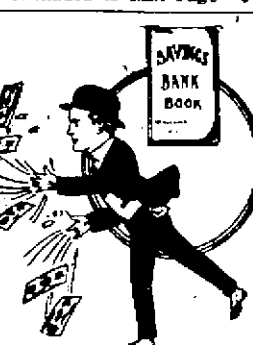

Convicted of stealing an overcoat, valued at $25, from Clephas Bell, one evening last week, Philip St. Onge was sentenced to three months in the house of correction. The police say that St. Onge, Bell and another man were lodged in a room in the down town section on the evening in question, and that during the absence of two of them St. Onge appropriated the coat and made his exit. He afterwards pawned the garment for $2, they said. For violations of the auto laws, Nathan Warskivsky paid a $10 fine.

THE STATE INCOME TAX

Early Return of Blanks
Will Do Away With
11th Hour Rush

More Lowell people have made early returns of state income tax blanks this year than ever before and Deputy Assessor J. Henry Gilbride, with offices on the fourth floor of The Sun building, does not anticipate the usual eleventh hour rush to the extent of other years. In the neighborhood of 3500 returns will be filed at his office prior to March 1, in addition to the hundreds which will be sent direct to the income tax collector at Boston.

Although the tax-paying public seems to have become educated to the requirements of the tax laws and the proper filling out of blanks to a large extent, there are still a number of persons who are slow to get going.

MURDER OF HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW

Charge Against Dr. Freudenberg, Arrested at Markesan, Wisconsin

Five Other Mysterious
Deaths in Family Being Investigated

MARKESAN, Wis., Jan. 13.—Dr. J. A. Freudenberg, charged with the murder of his wealthy mother-in-law, Mrs. Nettie Duffies, by injecting mustard in her bladder, today was in jail at Green Lake without bail. His arrest yesterday followed quickly upon discovery of evidence, according to the district attorney, tending to show that Dr. Freudenberg might have brought about Mrs. Duffies' death to prevent her marrying a third time, and that the doctor had purchased mustard.

Deaths under mysterious circumstances of four other members of the Duffies family, including Mrs. Duffies' second husband, are being investigated. Dr. Freudenberg, 37 years old, came to Markesan five years ago with slender finances. Shortly after that he married Miss Duffies who, with a brother, inherited Mrs. Duffies' estate of $300,000.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson has been notified by naval authorities of the receiving ship at Boston that Frederick Marshall of 5 Conlon street, this city, is missing from duty and that unless he returns by Jan. 15 will be declared a deserter.

COMMUNITY SERVICE WORK

Comprehensive Summing Up
of Its Aims at Meeting
Last Evening

Community Council Seeks
the Co-operation of the
Entire City

What Community Service is, from whence it came, its place in a city, its present activities and future aims were clearly set forth last evening when the community council, made up of representatives of 40 organizations, met at dinner at the Community club in Dutton street.

Otto Hockmeyer presided and introduced as speakers Curtis Harrington of New York, Benjamin S. Pouzner, secretary of the Lowell executive committee; Miss J. Macklin Beattie, girls' division director; Hugh J. Molloy, vice president of Lowell Community service; Frederick N. Wier, vice president, and W. C. MacBrayne.

It was the first meeting of the council, which is expected to grow to several times its present size, or until every Lowell organization and group of people banded together for a specific purpose, is represented therein by an accredited delegate.

In the words of Mr. Molloy, the council will be a sort of regeneration of the old town meeting, a forum for the free expression of public opinion and the consideration of all things aiming toward community betterment and expansion.

Otto Hockmeyer Presides
Following an excellent dinner, prepared and served by the restaurant staff of the club, Mr. Lyon in charge, Otto Hockmeyer, serving as chairman, opened the business of the evening by briefly outlining the entire scheme of Community service in a broad way and left the detailed explanations to those speakers who were to follow.

Mr. Hockmeyer traced the growth of the present organization from War Camp Community service and touched upon the four present activities: Girls' club, Community club, employment bureau and information stand at the depot. The community council is the fifth activity, he said, while the community forum in the process of development, will be the sixth.

"Lowell has taken over a great responsibility, which it seems willing to assume," he said. "For some time there has seemed to me to be a link missing in our plan of Americanization, and I feel very sure that Community Service is this missing link."

Community Service in Action
Benjamin S. Pouzner was called on to explain community service in action.

"Enough people in Lowell already have shown an interest in community service to create the feeling that it is wanted here. Community service means co-operation with every other organization in the city, to promote, encourage, assist and carry on social and civic activities in the city. Community service will not compete with any other group or body of men or women. Its work will not duplicate

What Famous Actors Do for Their Teeth

No class of appearance so much as those at the stage and films, and their teeth come first. They want them clean and highly polished. Cecil De Mille, who has the most perfect teeth on the American stage, uses Albion Dental Cream. So do Cleo Mayfield, Emmy Wehlen, Max Murray and the great star of the Folies, Eddie Cantor. They take no chances with potash and carbolic acid tooth pastes, with gritty things that wear away enamel.

Albion is calcium carbonate, saponified and mixed with the well-known antiseptic oils of cloves, cinnamon and eucalyptus, which authorities declare is the efficient and safe composition for women and children, and so naturally for you. It is in equal parts cleansing, polishing and antiseptic. A tube containing 55 brushings is sold everywhere with the guarantee that Albion will satisfy your taste.—Adv.

or overlap the promotion of ideas by other organizations. It simply wants to help in every way it can in every good work.

He covered in detail the workings of the four major activities, as outlined above. Speaking of the Men's club, he said the city owed it to its service men as a duty to provide them a club home. It is not a charity, he continued, but a civic duty. He spoke of the service rendered to the Lowell Post of the American Legion by the club and said that in no other way could the post have advanced so smoothly during its days of organization and early development. "We have the complete machinery here for carrying out the every wish of the legion and without the facilities we placed at its command, I doubt seriously if its membership today would have been so large had not this club provided the home."

In speaking of the Girls' club, Mr. Pouzner said it does not conflict with the Y.W.C.A. or any other women's organization. "All other girls' associations might be taxed to capacity," he said, "yet there would be plenty of Lowell girls left over for a splendid big Girls' Community Service club."

He explained the system of club government through a series of rotating committees and outlined the functions of the officers of the organization.

Officers and Directors
As a means of refreshing the memory, the officers are herewith given: President, Otto Hockmeyer; vice president, Hugh J. Molloy and Frederick N. Wier; treasurer, George E. King; clerk, John J. Flaherty; secretary, H. S. Pouzner; board of directors, Chas. E. Anderson, Frederick C. Church, John J. Flaherty, Otto Hockmeyer, Gen. E. King, Miss Alice T. Lee, Judge John C. Leggat, Hugh J. Molloy, Mrs. Louis A. Olney, Mrs. William L. Robertson, Robert B. Thomas, Samuel H. Thompson and Frederick N. Wier.

The Girls' Club
Miss J. Macklin Beattie, director of the Girls' club, was the next speaker. She gave a most illuminating and interesting resume of the work being accomplished with, for and by 1300-odd girls in the headquarters in the Runels building. The domestic science, household arts and home nursing classes being maintained were explained and the recreational side of the club was given a complete explanation.

Miss Beattie also touched upon an entirely new development of the work when she outlined the scheme for the ultimate transformation of the Runels building headquarters into a community center for women, with the Girls' club its principal activity, but removed to a home of its own, self-supporting and self-managed.

"We expert workers and organizers do not intend to stay always in Lowell," she said, "and for this reason our work here is largely instructive. We are training women and girls in the community to carry on and perpetuate the work we have begun."

Frederick N. Wier, one of the vice presidents, explained the employment bureau being operated as a community activity. "Our aim is not merely getting men for jobs and jobs for men, but something larger—a system for directing men into pursuits for which they are best fitted," he said. "That is a piece of real Community Service work, which will make for better relationships between employer and employee."

Town Meeting Revived
Hugh J. Molloy gave a clear definition of the community council plan by comparing it to the old form of town meeting, as a forum of expression public opinion. "We have in Lowell many

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry
For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs. Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly breaks up a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

churches," he said, "differing somewhat along doctrinal lines, but the same in underlying purpose. Each in its own sphere meets for the consideration of its needs, but they never meet together for consideration of the broad questions of vital interest to the community in which they exist. The community council provides that opportunity."

"If a man or woman doubts the need of such an organization in Lowell, propose the question of whether he or she is absolutely satisfied with the Lowell of today—not political Lowell, but civic Lowell. We have river banks and streams going to waste and children are being brought up to play in the city streets because we have not suitable recreation centres and playgrounds."

"It is the leisure time of men and women we should concern ourselves with today. Doctrines of Bolshevism are not sown into the hearts and minds of men during working hours, but during their hours of leisure and these are the hours we must fill with things American."

National Representative
Curtis Harrington of Community service national headquarters, was introduced as the last speaker. He said that he had not come to Lowell for the purpose of talking to Lowell men and women about community service, but simply to examine and investigate the splendid work being done here and take some of the good ideas back to New York that they may be passed around the country. He confined himself almost entirely to the recital of incidents of community service work which have come to his attention.

The meeting was then thrown open to discussion and Rev. Arthur W. Shaw, William Trotter and W. C. MacBrayne were heard on matters of interest.

Yellow Mustard for Sore Throat, Tonsillitis

Old fashioned remedies are often the best. Yellow Mustard, in the form of plaster or poultice, has been used for generations for soreness, inflammation, congestion and swelling with most excellent results but it blistered.

Heat causes pain and Begy's Mustard made of pure yellow mustard, together with other pain relieving ingredients is just as hot, but quicker, cleaner, and more effective. You cannot blister.

When your throat is sore, when you have pleurisy, bronchitis or a painful shooting chest cold you can get speedy and lasting relief with this most effective preparation because heat eases pain. Every druggist has it—30 and 60 cent boxes.

A WORD TO BOYS FROM DR. POPE

"Now that young America—Boy Scouts and other organizations—are taking to the woods once more," writes Dr. Pope, noted archer, "I sincerely hope archery will become recognized as the king of outdoor sports. It is to stimulate interest in bowmanship that I gladly relate to the boys of Lowell, young and old, the experiences of Arthur Young and myself in hunting big game with this weapon of real sportsmanship. With my next story I'll tell you just how to make a hunting bow."

ANGERED BEAR IS SLAIN WITH BOW AND ARROW

Old Guide Stands Ready With Gun if Archers Fail—Steel Tip Arrows Drop Big Bruin From Tree Limb

Written Especially for The Sun BY DR. SAXTON POPE (America's Most Expert Bowman)

"Expect to kill a bear with them gim-cracks?" snorted Tom Murphy, "The Bear Slayer of Humboldt county," referring to our bows, when Arthur Young and I asked him to guide us on our first hunt of the California wilderness with this weapon.

After considerable persuasion, he decided to honor us—carrying his trusty rifle by way of precaution. "I won't use her unless necessary," he promised, "but I'd feel mighty lonesome without her, because I've been apt to act sudden and unexpected."

We were willing to accept this as reasonable, since Murphy has not been innumerable and has killed upwards of 300. And so we set out, taking Tom's tried Kentucky pack of hounds.

After several days hunting in which we went at her throat as she felt; but there was no struggle—she was stone-dead when we reached her side.

leashed by the now-convinced Murphy, ception being the one which Young had driven into her head. The broken end of this was lodged six inches deep behind the eye.

Following an examination, Murphy somewhat prudently admitted that our first two arrows were probably fatal. We simply fired the other arrows because we were excited and didn't know just how much killing a cinnamon bear needed.

She was not a massive animal; but the same shots which accounted for her would have finished a grizzly. Murphy admitted that, too.

As for excitement—well, it winging steel-headed arrows into a bear at thirty yards doesn't bear plugging one with soft-nosed bullets at two hundred. I don't know what real sport is.

AMERICAN LEGION INSTALLS OFFICERS

Polly 3200 members of Lowell Post, 57, American Legion, completely filled the assembly hall of the Community Club last evening at the annual and first formal installation of officers. State Commander Edward L. Logan was not able to be present at the last moment because of the serious illness of his father and in his stead, Mayor Perry D. Thompson delivered the principal address. Commander Dudley L. Page of Post 42, G.A.R., also was present at an honored guest.

The installation ceremony was simple and consisted mainly of the seating of the new officers as their names were called by Vice-Commander John O'Rourke, retiring. The following men were seated: Commander Luther B. Paulkner, senior vice commander, Arthur P. Moran, junior vice commander, Stephen Garrity, adjutant, James P. McCarthy, treasurer, Eli B. Hart, chaplain, Rev. William P. Mahan, G.M., historian, Michael E. Quinn.

Mayor Thompson was introduced and said he felt something like a pinch hitter, filling in at the last moment in place of State Commander Logan, who was unable to be present. The mayor spoke in glowing terms of the accomplishments of the men during the days of war, which are a matter of record, and then turned to the things of civilian life which face them. He took up religion and education as vast fields of united endeavor in a fight to create a true Americanism and urged a never ceasing campaign for the development of a fine type of citizen.

His Honor suggested that the post institute the ceremony at the time of installation each year, of reading from the roll the names of the members who have died during the year passed and moments of quiet reflection as the names of former comrades are perpetuated in this manner.

Dudley L. Page spoke briefly in a happy vein and thanked the post for the honor of being allowed to attend the meeting.

Commander Paulkner's inaugural speech was not long and was confined principally to internal problems which face the post. He urged acceptance of the constitution and by-laws as a working basis and emphasized the importance of a complete organization of the membership of 2000. He reminded the members that a great Americanization project faced the legion all over the country and characterized radicals, reds and anarchists as "the coolies of democracy."

CORTO - the Radiator Classic

DESIGNED by Louis Courtot. For more than 200 years his people of the Jura, France, have lived in a world of charm, creating and producing artistic things. With inborn talent, this family of artisans in metal seek ever to refine the common articles of the household with graceful forms or surfaces which enrich them with the genius of art.

Wherever elegance of proportion and refined lines are demanded to fit architecturally-chaste surroundings, this radiator classic, the CORTO, lends unusual distinction.

30% less space. 25% less weight

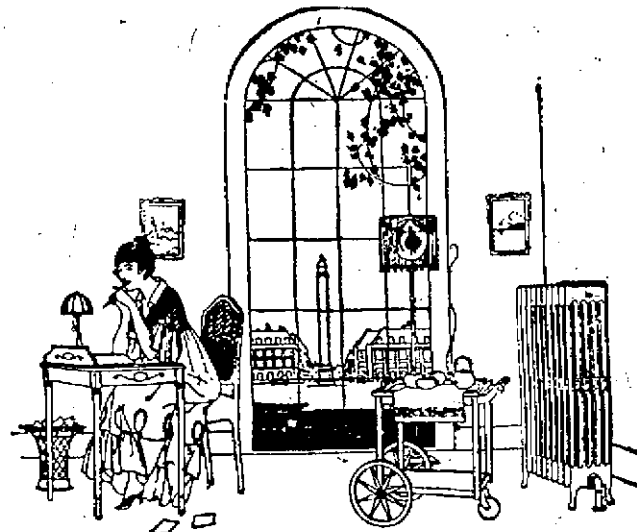

To those with whom utility is paramount, it need only be said that the CORTO, with its light, graceful tubes occupies 30% less floor space than any other type of radiator. The refinements reduce the weight one-quarter. There is far quicker circulation and venting. Utmost comfort is the result.

Our service obligation

We wish to give assurance that this new product will be attended by the same prompt and thorough service which has accompanied our goods in the past.

Inquiries cordially welcome

We are receiving many orders from home-lovers for replacement of their present radiators. It will interest you to see the dainty Parisian catalog, "CORTO, the Radiator Classic." Inquiries cordially welcomed

MEETING AT HOME OF NEW PASTOR

To develop organized co-operation with their new pastor, Rev. Karl P. Meister, of Columbus, Ohio, formerly secretary of the Methodist Minute Men of New England and identified with the food administration service during the war, members of the church board of the Centralville M. E. church held an enthusiastic meeting at the home of Rev. Mr. Meister, 33 June street, last evening.

Plans for the remodeling of the parsonage and church were thoroughly discussed and several committees appointed to aid in carrying on the work of the church during the coming year. Mrs. Mary Peters and Arthur L. Hiler were chosen to represent the church in the coming evangelistic drive by the Methodist Episcopal churches, and the following membership committee was elected: Mrs. Albert E. Swann, D. A. THE CAUSES

Sometimes, it pays better to be held up by the plumber, the locksmith, the market-gardener or the cook than to do the work oneself. It is all a question of the value of one's time.

Our present financial woes are due to many causes, and one of them is our slowness to adapt ourselves to changed conditions. This is itself due partly to habit, partly to ignorance and partly to caste.

It is habit when we keep on doing things in the good old way without thinking of the change that changed conditions may demand. When conditions are stable, habit is a friend; when they change, it is an enemy; and now they have changed. We must, therefore, stop and ask whether it may not pay us better to make for ourselves the things that we used to buy—or to go without them altogether. The market is topsy-turvy and our old conceptions of the division of labor need revising.

Ignorance is an economy and almost a mark of good judgment when we can count on the knowledge of others for guidance.

If other people know what they are getting in the way of goods or labor for their money, because they have made the things themselves and compared the prices of competing vendors, and if they are buying carefully, it may often pay to follow the crowd and pay what they pay for the things they buy. The price will be a fair one.

But we can't take this for granted when industry is so specialized that very few people make things for themselves, and combinations have killed competition; and half our fellow-purchasers think it grand to be good spenders. When goods that can't be sold at a low price go quickly at a high one, we must inquire into values for ourselves and consider the question of independent production. Ignorance now is expensive.

But it is caste that costs the most. If certain things must be done, or if dignity seems to demand it, and at the same time dignity forbids that we should do them for ourselves or others, then those who do them will exact their price; and when labor is scarce and independent, the price will be very high.—N.E.A.

BARRING SOCIALISTS

The exclusion of five representatives from the New York legislature because they are socialists, seems to be a grave mistake. If these men simply believe in socialism as a system of government without resorting to violent or illegal methods to bring it about, they are wholly within their rights. The New York legislature might well hesitate in taking any such action as the five socialists so barred from membership, are probably as honest as the average of the members of either party.

No man can be so ostracized except for some criminal offense. When, where or by what means has socialism been made an offense for the mere profession of which men are to be treated as criminals?

The New York assembly has made a serious blunder which it will undoubtedly regret. The crusade against radicalism seems to have gone to ridiculous extremes in some quarters and conspicuously so in the New York legislature. Care must be taken that in guarding our American freedom, we do not commit blunders worse than the offenses we are trying to eradicate.

There is or should be in this country freedom of the press, freedom of speech and freedom of action within the law.

Should the New York assembly persist in excluding the socialist representatives, their constituents would doubtless re-elect them and then the situation would be somewhat similar to that of Berger in the Wisconsin district. The New York socialists, however, are not accused of any crime; they have not been sentenced for giving aid or comfort to the enemies of this country, they are merely socialists and for being so classed, a legislative assembly that can show as great a percentage of political crooks as any in the country, votes to exclude them as unworthy of its membership. That is a piece of political abolitionism which is more at variance with the principle of American freedom than is socialism.

In saying this much against the action of the New York assembly, we by no means change our views in reference to the dangers of socialism as a system.

BRYAN AND THE TREATY

William Jennings Bryan is fast assuming a dominating attitude in the national councils of the democratic party. He brings out a new plan for effecting the ratification of the treaty in the senate. He would have a conference of senators called to settle upon reservations agreeable to both sides so that a conclusion could be reached. If no agreement were possible, then he would advise the opposing democrats to withdraw and allow the republicans to proceed to ratify according to their own ideas.

The withdrawal of a sufficient number of democrats to convert the majority into a two-thirds vote, would offer a means of ratifying the treaty. The matter would then rest with President Wilson, who is not likely to show any obstinacy as to the reservations.

This is one expedient by which ratification could be obtained; but it is likely that a compromise will be reached without resorting to this extreme step.

When it is said that ratification requires a two-thirds vote of the senate, it is understood to mean two-thirds of those present and voting.

Tom Reed of Maine, when speaker some twenty years ago, counted all members present to make a quorum, whether they participated in the proceedings or not. Mr. Bryan's method is not as questionable, although it offers an ingenious method of getting around an important provision of the constitution.

LIBERTY LOAN

Unless congress and the people in general practice economy the government will be obliged to call for another Liberty loan. That is the statement of Sec. Glass of the treasury and his warning is thoroughly reliable. He gives facts and figures which prove that what he says is true. If congress indulges in any extravagance another bond issue will be inevitable. It is reported that the republican program of legislation contemplates some vast expenditures. It is in order, therefore, for the republican leaders to revise their program and adopt a policy of economy in accord with what they preach. While the country enjoys comparative prosperity, the high cost of living is still pressing heavily upon the people. They cannot very well afford to continue paying high taxes and at the same time meet new demands. It was these large government transactions that helped to inflate the currency and if they are continued, they will prolong the high prices that have resulted from such inflation. The party that adopts a policy of extravagance at the present time, deserves to be severely rebuked by the people.

TREATY COMPROMISE

President Lowell of Harvard university, has sent a very significant letter to Senator Walsh, taking a new stand upon Article X of the League of Nations. It will be remembered that Mr. Lowell primarily defended the more drastic provisions of the covenant against the attacks of Senator Lodge. Now, however, after a year's discussion, he admits that there is danger in Article X and that the real power to prevent war lies in Article XVI, which authorizes a boycott, although not entirely adequate.

It is strange how some of the strongest advocates of the league begin to see things in a new light as they look for a basis of compromise.

President Wilson once remarked that Article X constituted the very heart of the covenant, but even the leading democrats are receding from that position today and are willing to favor reservations providing for a very material modification.

The fact that 65 senators have agreed to vote for the treaty with reservations, seems to indicate a determination to get the treaty out of the way as soon as possible.

"TECH'S ANGEL"

At last, Technology has revealed the real name of the mysterious "Mr. Smith," who poured his millions into the treasury of "Tech" for the purpose of founding an endowment fund. Mr. George Eastman is the great benefactor who has given the M.I.T. so many millions. He made his money chiefly from inventions in photographic appliances and processes and subsequently in the manufacture of such supplies. The alumni of this popular institution made a splendid effort to raise the amount necessary to secure Mr. Eastman's latest donation. He has given altogether $10,700,000 to the M.I.T., but has made many munificent donations to educational and other institutions in Rochester.

The city that has as resident a philanthropist like Eastman is certainly fortunate. Such men are exceedingly rare. Only one or two of them appear in a generation.

COASTING

When coasting is allowed upon any street, it is very unwise for the drivers of motor vehicles to use that street unless it be absolutely necessary. On Sunday afternoon, while Rogers street, from High to the Concord river, was crowded with children coasting, a couple of motorcycles with side cars were driven through the crowd repeatedly for what reason it was difficult to understand. It appears that one of the men was trying his brakes in going up and down the hill. Of course it was a public street and he could not be excluded; but he could not fail to see that in such a crowd of children coasting, sometimes recklessly, his vehicle exposed them to great danger. One of the coasters ran into a motorcycle and was seriously injured. The application of a little common sense in such cases would be worth a great deal.

BANKS ARE SOUND

The treasury department at Washington, is justly proud of the record of the 8000 national banks in the United States, as showing a wonderful absence of failures. The past six years have shown great growth of national banks; but the year 1919 was the most prosperous in their history. The earnings of these banks for the past year, amounted to $1,000,000,000 gross or $300,000,000 net.

The immunity from failure from January 1, 1913, till the end of the fiscal year, October 31, 1919, showed an advance of 3000 per cent over the record prior to 1914. This speaks well for the stability of our banking system and for general prosperity.

GEN. PERSHING'S WORD

General Pershing makes a strong defense against the charge that lives were sacrificed unnecessarily after the armistice was signed, or after it became known that it would be signed. His explanation is, that the commanders were under orders to keep up their fire to the last minute, lest the Germans should show some treachery. The claim is made that some of the Americans were engaged even after the hour fixed for a cessation of hostilities. General Pershing's explanation of this would be that the divisions so involved could not be reached in time to have them stop fighting. Whatever was done seemed to be in pursuance of orders from the supreme commanders.

GENERAL WOOD

General Wood's platform of "one flag, one language," is catchy but not sufficient to get the people cheering for him. It is not at all original. The people have been working in that direction ever since the close of the war. The general apparently wants to turn this slogan to his own political account. He is evidently what is known as light presidential timber; but he has a grievance and being more of a politician than a soldier, he will bear watching. The republican party must have a death of candidates if it nominates General Wood.

Lawyer Melvin M. Johnson is in full accord with the churches which teach that the application of Christian principles will remedy every form of injustice and unrest that prevails at the present time. The idea entertained by a great many people that our form of government is responsible for part of the industrial unrest, is utterly absurd. We have the freest government on earth and if conditions are not as they should be, our system of government provides the means of effecting the necessary reform, provided it is properly applied.

What Does Your Mirror Reveal?

When a growing girl becomes pale, complains of exhaustion, dizzy spells, headaches and stomach trouble she should know that these are evidences of anemia or bloodlessness. A glance in the mirror will tell the story. There is immediate need for a tonic, a builder that will so completely restore the missing qualities to the blood that every other part of the body will share in the benefit.

A good example of the result of wise treatment in a case of this kind is the story of Mrs. G. E. Leadbetter, who lives in Uxley, Me.

"While attending school I became in such a run-down condition," she says, "that I was obliged to give up my studies. I had dreadful sick headaches which affected my stomach."

The face in my mirror was practically without any color and my hands were almost transparent. I was so weak that I had to be helped in going up stairs. I didn't care to eat, for food only added to my distress.

"I tried several medicines but the benefit was only temporary and I soon lost more than I had gained. My mother finally had me try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The remedy seemed to take immediate hold for there was some improvement after the first box. I continued the treatment and soon was strong enough to return to school. My blood became so much richer that my color returned, as did my strength. I was able to eat a hearty meal and then became free from headaches. Ever since that experience I have gone back to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills whenever I feel the need of a tonic and the remedy has never failed me. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to those whose systems require a builder."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 60 cents per box, postpaid. Write today for a copy of the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."

SEEN AND HEARD

Sometimes there are true friendships that are necessary for one to relinquish.

Lots of good turns we could have done last year that we slipped up on. Let's pull 'em this year.

A Japanese scientist is working on a serum to abolish yellow fever. Somebody may yet invent something to abolish yellow streaks.

It's a terribly wicked thought, but boys who enlist for overseas service are able to get a bottle of suds when they wish.

After you've worked and saved years and years to get everything you want, you find that you don't want anything, and if you haven't worked and saved you're continually running up against something you want and can't buy.

At this time of the year one may lift himself, or herself, out of the gutter of despair by counting the days to the opening of the spring training trip, or visualizing the Easter bonnet, or studying garden catalogues.

The man next door came over. "Far," he began, "your dog has come over and tracked up our porch." "Is that so?" smiled the neighbor. "But it isn't uncommon. Now if your porch had come over and tracked up our dog it would be worth talking about."

Beating 'Em to It

"Mrs. Gadspar is deeply chagrined."

"What's the trouble?"

"She thought when Mr. Gadspar built a garage capable of housing half a dozen motor cars, with sleeping quarters for chauffeur in the second story, that the noses of all the neighbors had been put permanently out of joint."

"Well?"

"And now the Whillbites, next door, are building a hanger."

Reds of Many Colors

Some of those reds, we are informed, turned white with fear when told they would be deported to Russia, which they consider a black eye to their movement, and all continues the reporter, were blue. While most of the reds are white, there are some black reds. And in Asia they have some yellow and brown reds. But there are no red reds, for thus far not an American redskin name has been found on a red list.

Office Informally

Mr. Root is fond of telling this story about himself. One day he said to his office boy, "Who has taken my waste paper basket?"

"Mr. Johnson, sir, the caretaker," was the reply.

Sometime later Mr. Root asked, "James, who opened that window?"

"Mr. Smith, sir, the window cleaner."

"Now, look here," said Mr. Root, "we

Alkali in Soap Bad For the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Multifid coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoons will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

The Red Wolves

They sought our shores as pilgrims seek A golden promised land. From countries where strong tyrants wreak Their vicious wills upon the weak, They sought our blessed strand.

From out its yoke each weary neck Stretched toward kind freedom's sun: Here sceptred power would never check Ambition's trend, nor try to wreck A life so late begun.

Beneath the guiding beech-arm Of noble liberty, They who had fled from venal harm Asked of our land its gift of charm And swift prosperity.

Today, like reptiles, warned and fed, Upon us all they turn. The flag they flout is one of dread— The hue of blood—aggressive red— And with mad hate they burn.

Hate—that their joys have multiplied; Hate—that their souls are free; Hate—that no chance has been denied For gaining honor, fame, and pride Here, where such chances be!

They sought our shores downcast, forlorn. And entered at our gate, Each harboring the wish, unhorn. Our liberty, in time, to scorn, Our land to desecrate.

Today, their purposes revealed— Their wretched schemes for power— To outraged justice they must yield And know our land is not a field For Red Wolves to devour! —LURANA SHELTON, in New York Times.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

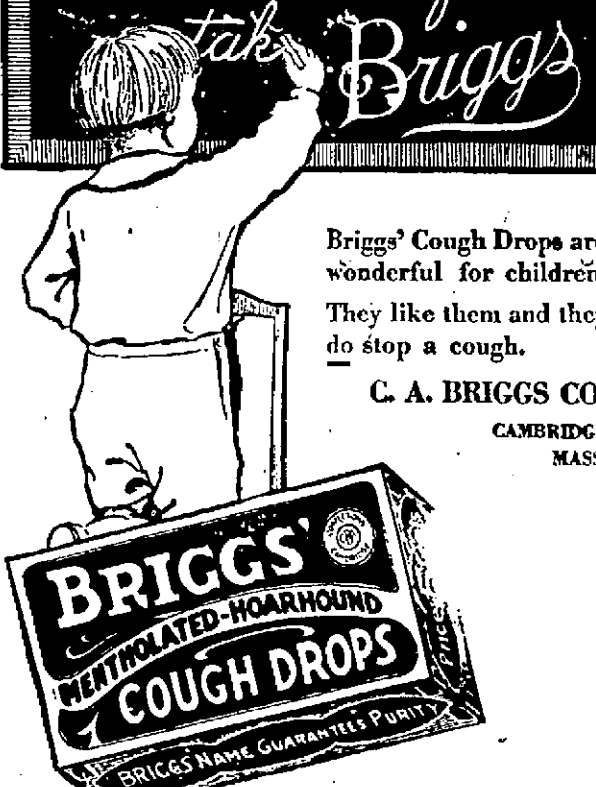

Something is radically wrong in China. Either there has been instituted a censorship of acute rigidity, or our erstwhile correspondent has met with a mishap. We hesitate before taking unto ourselves other condition as an absolute fact, but something has happened, for our at least fortnightly letter, enclosed within a square, yellow envelope and emblazoned in the lower left hand corner with admonition: "News From China—Rush," does not come any more. It's hard to imagine such a faithful correspondent actually sleeping on the job—and his letters were such illuminating parcels of news, too. Imagine, if you can, our joy at receiving this letter habitually every two weeks for months, and then have it stop of a sudden, without the slightest warning. Has the great China stopped her awakening process? We hope not. Perhaps news in China is scarce these days, just as it is here in the summertime. But we miss the familiar envelope and its contents from the tottering millions of the east telling of the outrage that is embodied in the arrangement to hand Shantung over to Japan.

There's a pathetic story told by a poster hanging on the wall of the local army recruiting station in the Mansur block in Central street—a story that is bound to "get under the skin" of one who takes time to read it and digest the circumstances which it narrates. Usually such posters have to do with deserters—you perhaps have seen them a dozens of times in public places about the city—but this isn't a case of desertion. It tells about a young soldier, one Corp. Earl Dudley Scott, whose home is over in the Berkshire hills and who went overseas with one of the expeditionary units, did his bit, was first reported wounded on July 17, 1918, later unofficially reported killed on the same date and last spring reported to have returned with a casualty unit. But his folks have seen no trace of him since the day he left for overseas and the home service department of the Red Cross of Franklin county is doing its best to locate him. The poster says that the soldier—a young, good looking fellow he appears to be from the two photos that accompany his description—may be a victim of shell-shock and thus have lost his identity. I couldn't help thinking that there may be a poor mother or father grieving over the absence of this soldier lad, wondering whether he is dead or alive, buried in France or wandering aimlessly about this country. And yet Sergt. McLeod tells me that this case is but one of hundreds that come to the attention of the army officials.

RULES FOR LIQUOR IN HOMES ISSUED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The bureau of internal revenue has instructed its collectors to see that persons having in storage warehouses, safe deposit vaults, and other places legally acquired, intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes shall not remove them to their private dwellings after January 17. A warning to those who possess such liquors will be issued by revenue agents at once.

Liquors bought prior to July 1, 1919, are held as "legally acquired."

A notice to the collector of New York by the commissioner of internal revenue yesterday said:

"Persons having legally acquired intoxicating liquor cannot leave such liquors in storage warehouses after January 17, 1920, except by a compliance with the procedure hereinafter set forth and cannot after Jan. 17 withdraw any such liquor from such storage warehouse for beverage purposes.

Rules for Private Dwellings

"Persons possessing intoxicating liquors in their private dwellings must not continue such possession after January 17 unless such dwellings are occupied and used by them for dwelling purposes only and if such liquors are used for personal consumption must be only by the owners of the dwellings and their families residing in such dwellings or of their bona fide private guests while being entertained therein. Such liquors must not under any circumstances be removed to the dwellings of the owners from storage warehouses after January 17.

"Persons who have intoxicating liquor in their private dwellings for use as contemplated by Sec. 33 of title 2 of the national prohibition act will not make report of these liquors.

"If intoxicating liquors are found in storage warehouses or other places, except private dwellings, on and after Feb. 1, 1920, and report of same has not been made by the owners, such possession will be prima facie evidence of illegal possession and the intoxicating liquors will be subject to seizure, and the place where stored may be declared a public and common nuisance.

"In cases where liquors are stored in a public warehouse or other place of storage, subject to the orders of the owners thereof, the proprietor of such warehouse or place of deposit should make a full report of all such liquors. Such liquors will, however, be nevertheless subject to seizure where they have not been reported by owners.

"All hotels or other similar places now possessing intoxicating liquors, and held for service or for beverage purposes in contemplation of the ban being lifted, will be required to comply with the requirements as to owners.

May Have Liquor in Two Places

"In the event a person has two private dwellings he may legally possess liquors in each place, provided such dwellings are his bona fide places of residence, and so occupied by him, although occupied at different times. If private dwelling is changed, such liquors may be removed under special permit with other household effects to his new private residence, provided such transfer is not in conflict with state laws.

"If a person lives at an apartment house, hotel or boarding house, and such place is his bona fide residence as described by sections 23 and 33 of title 2 of the national prohibition act, intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes may be possessed by him in such places, provided such intoxicating liquors are held in his room or rooms, or in the lockers of such apartment house, hotel or boarding house over which he has complete and exclusive control, and which are used exclusively for storage purposes, and provided further that such liquors were lawfully acquired and possessed prior to Jan. 17, 1920."

DELAY IN BONUS DUE TO LACK OF FUNDS

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Jan. 13.—

Failure of the legislature to give the office of the secretary of state enough money to operate efficiently is responsible for the delay in getting the bonus experienced by widows of men who gave up their lives in France.

This statement is contained in the secretary's report on vital statistics in which it is explained that the legislature turned down a request for an appropriation of $10,000 to be used in indexing the records of births, marriages, divorces and deaths occurring and taking place in the state.

It is pointed out that the state has made ample provision for the registration of vital statistics but that without a proper system of indexing the value of this is lost in a large measure because of the extreme difficulty in getting at particular records.

"The importance of the marriage registration, which is especially necessary, is largely to protect the home and the family and to furnish reliable evidence upon which to base the legitimacy of children and the dower rights of women," the statement reads.

"But notwithstanding the importance of these records to the individual citizen, especially the women, who have a right to expect that the state will perform its duty in recording marriages with precision and promptness, many applicants for certified copies of records of marriages are unable to obtain them from the state division of vital statistics because the records of marriages have not been indexed since 1912. Records are of little value if filed away without being indexed, and although thousands of dollars are expended annually by the commonwealth and by the cities and towns in registering marriages, many citizens of the state are deprived of their rights through the neglect to make suitable financial provision for index work.

"During the last five year period, 167,623 marriages were solemnized in Massachusetts, and many marriages of residents of Massachusetts were solemnized without the commonwealth and recorded here in compliance with the provisions of law. No public library, no business organization could function if it neglected to catalogue or to index 167,623 valuable books or records.

"Yet the commonwealth of Massachusetts has not only failed to make provision for keeping up to date the indexes of this vast number of marriage records of its citizens but has also neglected to make available the 272,000 records of deaths and the 467,000 records of births—a total of 907,000 vital records—and soon there will be enough more to make a grand total of approximately one and one-quarter million vital records, collected, examined, recorded and bound at a cost of thousands of dollars, filed away, unavailable to the citizens and taxpayers of the state, except by laborious searching and in many cases not available at all.

"Many widows and children of veterans of the European war have been put to unnecessary delay and inconvenience as a result of this failure to make appropriations for indexes. A recommendation was made by the secretary of the commonwealth for an appropriation of the modest sum of $10,000 for bringing the indexes of births, marriages and deaths up to date in his annual report for 1918. The legislative committee on public health, to whom the report was referred, held a public hearing and reported a bill, which the committee on ways and means, however, reported 'ought not to pass.'

SAYS IRELAND WILL NEVER BE REPUBLIC

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—"There never will be an Irish republic," declared Hon. George Tucker of Marquette, Mich., a national officer of the Sons of St. George, in an address last night on "Americanism," delivered at Tremont Temple to about 150 Americans of British birth.

"It would be suicide for England to give up all authority in Ireland," he continued. "If Ireland were in the Pacific ocean England would gladly give it up. But lying on England's trade routes, the mother country cannot have it a hotbed for such anti-British plots as the Roger Casement affair. She must retain some authority there. England has wronged Ireland and must right the wrong. But that is England's business. There never was a time when the Irish question had a legitimate place in American politics.

"The only way America could help Ireland would be to send a force overseas strong enough to conquer Great Britain. Such a mission will never be launched here. Yet the funds for Ireland go on. If you are going to call the Irish fund anything you must call it a contribution to a lost cause.

"I am not against Ireland. If the two people were left alone they would be all right. England can take care of herself. I protest the exploitation of America to lead agitators in Ireland. I don't know what de Valera has to recommend him to America. He worked insidiously against her when her sons were dying to defend France."

Denouncing de Valera, he declared he was deserving of the death of Bolo Tasha, the speaker brought his audience to their feet. The entire Irish reference was a spontaneous outburst. His prepared speech was a defense of a broad Americanism.

"The narrow interpretation of 'America first' if practiced would destroy America," he said. "Too many confound hatred of other countries with love for America. He is no true American who would not return to the land of his father, be it England, Ireland or Germany, to fight for the principles of which the American flag is emblematic.

"There is more anti-Americanism in America than the foreign born bring here. Force must be used temporarily to hold Bolshevism in check. But force is not the ultimate solution. We need as much salvation from some of our ill-advised time-serving patriots at home as from any invasion."

Mr. Tucker urged that the League of Nations be adopted so that this country might maintain its high influence for world betterment. John Orrell of Lowell, supreme president of the order, introduced the speaker. Arthur Brown of Brockton presided.

TEACH AND PREACH

REAL AMERICANISM

Declaring that the only way to combat the "reds" is to teach and preach real, genuine Americanism, Rev. C. V. Smith of Somerville, speaking before the Lowell Baptist union at the First Baptist church last evening, urged his hearers to unite in a campaign against bolshevism, and the doctrines for which it stands. The meeting was well attended, and was preceded by an excellent supper served under the direction of Mrs. James Fleming, president of the Benevolent society.

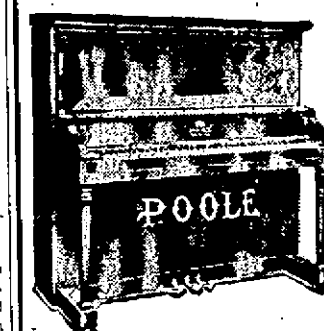

Rev. Mr. Smith paid a fitting tribute to W. B. Symonds, treasurer of the union, who died yesterday after being identified with the organization for several years. All members stood in prayer when Mr. Symonds' death was announced, and a committee on resolutions was formed, consisting of Rev. Asa R. Dills, Rev. H. A. Cornell, and Rev. George R. Myers. A resolution sympathizing with Mr. Symonds' family was also passed.

The city of Sheffield contributed 70 per cent of the war material furnished by private firms in Great Britain during the war, according to a pamphlet issued by the city council.

FREE FOR THIS VISIT

Ever before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. Those wishing to see him should remember the Days, Dates and Office Hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

For nearly 15 years I have been studying the Chemistry of food and the Chemistry of the human body. I have put these two sciences together and formulated the science of Applied Food Chemistry. By the application of this knowledge I cure all forms of stomach and intestinal diseases, and all other disorders that result from wrong eating and drinking. This method cannot fail because it conforms to the laws of Nature.

It is estimated that ninety-two per cent. of all diseases are caused by errors in eating. These errors are made by wrong selections, wrong combinations, and wrong proportions of food. I teach you how to correct these, how to select, how to combine and how to proportion your food according to your age and your occupation. This cures by removing causes. It gives Nature a chance. This is the true science of human nutrition, and it is governed by laws as inflexible as the laws of gravitation. If you obey them, you cannot be sick. If you do not obey them you cannot be well.

You have no idea what your body is capable of, until you have it perfectly nourished. You have no idea what your mind is capable of, until it lives in a perfectly nourished body.

You have no idea of the joy of living until every bone, tissue, muscle and organ of the body is brought up to 100% efficiency, which my system does. If you are sick or have any kind of stomach or intestinal trouble it will require a short term of curative feeding—then I balance the diet so as to give to the body all the elements of nourishment. It requires according to your age and your occupation. If medicine is needed in any case I prescribe only such remedies that do not conflict with the proper diet. I get results and this ends all argument.

DR. NAUGHTON will positively be at the New American Hotel, Wednesday, Jan. 14th, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

BOSTON, Jan. 12.—The sixth annual convention and banquet of New England horsemen has been set for February 13, the event to be at the American house, this city, under the direction of the Bay State circuit. John O. Reay, who has been placed in charge of the affair, has completed arrangements for the entertainment of the horsemen and has made a definite decision on the date.

At 11.30, the morning of the 13th, a special meeting of the Bay State circuit will be held for the purpose of arranging the schedule for next season, as well as to decide definitely on several important matters, including the question of having one man act as presiding judge throughout the season and the matter of stakes, purses, and the plan of racing to be used in 1920.

The convention of New England horsemen is scheduled for 3 o'clock and the banquet, which will be an old-fashioned beefsteak dinner at $3.50 per plate, will begin to appease the appetites of the hungry ones at 6.20. Circuit officials will try to induce some prominent man identified with the harness sport to address the horsemen in the evening, and plans already are being made to make this the best in the history of the annual occasion.

FINE BOOST FOR MORGAN-CALLAHAN BOUT

That the bout between Frankie Callahan and Eddie Morgan scheduled for Thursday night at the Crescent A. A. is looked upon with much favor in other cities is indicated by the notices appearing in the Boston papers. Yesterday's Herald had the following boost for the attraction:

"Lowell fans will have an opportunity of seeing the real Eddie Morgan in action when he faces Frankie Callahan in a 12-round bout Thursday night. Callahan has not done any fighting in a number of months, but he is satisfied with his present condition that he can launch a successful come-back. Morgan, the real Eddie, is one of the smartest fighters in his class.

"He recently disposed of Joe Fox, besides obtaining the popular award over a number of good lightweight. Callahan has not picked any easy mark when he elected to fight Morgan. Frankie feels that the only way to learn his true condition is to meet the hardest in his class, and Morgan was the man the club thought would put him to the acid test.

"The match is one of the biggest arranged by the Lowell club and is being watched by some of the other high class offerings decided there lately.

The semi-final number between Buddy Thomas and Harry Noyes is regarded as a bang up number. Both are aggressive, hard hitting performers, and reports from their training quarters indicate that they are in fine condition. There will also be two good preliminaries. Young Christie, who made such a hit here a few weeks ago in his initial appearance, will meet Frankie Mack, and Jim Owens will tackle Joe Dubois in the other six round event.

MORAN IS OUTFOUGHT VASELL AFTER ANOTHER CONDEMN WAR RECORD
BY FRED FULTON BOUT WITH LONDOS OF JACK DEMPSEY

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 12.—Fred Fulton of Rochester, Minn., outfought Frank Moran of Pittsburgh, in an eight-round bout at the 1st Regiment armory here last night.

Fulton weighed 214 pounds and Moran 194. Moran was himself out in the first round in an effort to end the bout quickly. Fulton used a left jab with effect during the remaining rounds, and although his opponent was strong in the seventh, appeared unable to knock him out.

As the bell rang starting the contest, Moran rushed and met Fulton in the center ring in a swift exchange, placed a hard right swing to the head of the man's head which staggered him to the ropes. Fulton recovered quickly and sent several hard blows to the body. Moran kept trying to land a hard swing. The round was even.

Moran showed the effect of his hard efforts and Fulton had little difficulty in outlasting him in the remaining rounds. After receiving two swings to the head in the second, Fulton appeared unsteady, but came back and did good work at close quarters.

In the fourth round the fighters engaged in a mix-up in which they landed a number of blows. Moran received considerable punishment about the face, but kept boring in.

Pete Hartley Beats Jackson
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—Willie Jackson of New York, who won much fame in this city by his sensational one-round knockout over Johnny Dundee, was handed the surprise of his life in the same ring by Pete Hartley, the new durable "Duke." Hartley, a 12-year-old boy, landed a fast and accurate right hand to the jaw of Jackson, who was knocked out.

As the bell rang starting the contest, Moran rushed and met Fulton in the center ring in a swift exchange, placed a hard right swing to the head of the man's head which staggered him to the ropes. Fulton recovered quickly and sent several hard blows to the body. Moran kept trying to land a hard swing. The round was even.

Moran showed the effect of his hard efforts and Fulton had little difficulty in outlasting him in the remaining rounds. After receiving two swings to the head in the second, Fulton appeared unsteady, but came back and did good work at close quarters.

In the fourth round the fighters engaged in a mix-up in which they landed a number of blows. Moran received considerable punishment about the face, but kept boring in.

Pete Hartley Beats Jackson
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—Willie Jackson of New York, who won much fame in this city by his sensational one-round knockout over Johnny Dundee, was handed the surprise of his life in the same ring by Pete Hartley, the new durable "Duke." Hartley, a 12-year-old boy, landed a fast and accurate right hand to the jaw of Jackson, who was knocked out.

Serious Study of Disease in New York—No Progress Made in 35 Years

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—An increase in the number of cases of measles here has caused Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner, to ask Dr. W. H. Park, director of the bureau of laboratories, to undertake a serious study of the disease at once. Appearance of measles at this time of year was unexpected, Dr. Copeland said, as it usually reaches its maximum here in May. There have been 221 cases reported in the last 10 days. Dr. Copeland, in his letter to Dr. Park, says:

Reserve Stock Reduced More Than $441,000,000 in Calendar Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Reserve stocks of precious metals in this country were reduced more than $441,000,000 in the calendar year 1919, according to a statement yesterday by the federal reserve board.

Gold exports amounted to $358,144,446, of which $24,144,129 went to Japan, $56,660,000 to Argentina, $10,045,265 to Hong Kong, $29,102,759 to China, $34,300,660 to British India, and $29,778,608 to Spain. Imports totaled $78,531,045, most of it coming from Canada and Hong Kong.

Silver exports were valued at $339,001,151; British India taking $109,180,718; China $77,053,367, and Hong Kong $10,325,351 for coinage purposes. The growing European demand for silver for currency was shown in $15,635,386 exports of silver to England; $6,598,197 to France; and $2,094,084 to the Netherlands. Imports of silver were $39,339,536 of which $63,093,432 came from Mexico.

WHO SHOULD LEND TO NEEDY EUROPE

BY CARTER GLASS, Secretary of the Treasury

The treasury has strongly held the opinion that this government should, at the earliest possible moment, discontinue lending money to other governments. I have urged that private initiative should be restored and that credits for purchases in the United States should be obtained through private channels.

Since Armistice Day, the consistent policy of the treasury has been, so far as possible, to restore private initiative and remove governmental controls and interferences. It has been the view of the treasury that only thus can the prompt restoration of healthy economic life be gained.

How Any Woman Can Remove Hair Growths

(Beauty Culture)

It is no longer necessary for a woman to visit a beauty specialist to have superfluous hairs removed, for, with the aid of a plain delatone paste, she can, in the privacy of her own home, remove even a stubborn growth in a very few minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. This is applied to the hairs and after two or three minutes removed and the skin washed, when it will be left clear and hairless. Be sure you buy real delatone.—Adv.

have been removed, as well as the voluntary and informal control of call money and the stock exchange loan account.

The control exercised by the capital issues committee over capital issues has been discontinued. Thus the financial markets of the United States have been opened to the whole world and all restrictions removed that might have hindered America's capital and credit resources, as well as its great gold reserve, from being available in aid of the world's commerce and Europe's need.

Men must go back to work in Europe, must contribute to increase production. The industries of Europe, of course, cannot be set to work without raw materials, machinery, etc., and to the extent that these are to be secured from the United States, the problem of financing the restoration of Europe belongs primarily to our exports.

Governmental financial assistance in the past and talk of plans for future government of banking aid to finance exports have apparently led our industrial concerns to the erroneous expectation that their war profits, based so largely on exports, will continue indefinitely without effort or risk on their part.

To them will fall the profits of the exports and upon them will fall the consequences of failure to make the exports.

The industries of the country must be brought to a realization of the gravity of this problem, must go out and seek at home and abroad a reasonable level, and create or co-operate in creating the means of financing export business.

But we (the government) cannot and must not now fall to supply some food on credit to save human lives and safeguard civilization, for which we have already expended so many lives and billions of dollars. Although the shortage of food in Europe as a whole is less this winter than last, there is in parts of Europe (especially Austria, Poland and Armenia) a most dangerous shortage of food, clothing and fuel.

WILL & THE WIFE

It was very dark and quiet down by the pond when Nancy and Nick slipped off one warm night. A good thing for them, too, for they had on their nightgowns (not another thing).

And what do you think they were doing? Hunting for Jocko, their lost monkey? No! Looking for their magical mushroom? No-o! For their little Suddenly they saw a light like a fiery eye. It stayed still a minute, then moved down, then up, then sideways with a little jump! It was very queer. Little shivers chased up their backs. "That's his light!" whispered Nick. "He's coming this way," said Nancy, with a little gasp. "Sh-h!" Down they scoured as fast as little white panthers. On, on, on, nearer and green shoes? No-o-o! They weren't after any of those things at all.

They were after Will & the Wife!

They didn't know who Will was, or what Will was, but they were going to find out. All they did know was that he stayed by ponds and carried a light, and wouldn't let you near him.

They nestled down in the tall grass beside the water, and waited and waited and waited, and watched for a light. They saw a firefly, but that wasn't it, and across the field Farmer Smith carrying a lantern, but he wasn't it, either.

DINING TABLE PROTECTION

The danger of marring the finish of a dining table with a white spot caused by water which may soak through a centerpiece from a fern or other decorative plant often offsets enjoyment of the plant's beauty. An easy way to overcome this trouble is to cut a piece of oilcloth the proper size and place it beneath the centerpiece. This will prevent moisture from penetrating the linen and marring the table.

nearer came the fiery eye. It was almost over them now. "Oh, goodies!"

Then Nick was suddenly brave. He was going to find out who Will was, so he put out his hand—and touched—a shoe!

The light suddenly beat down, almost to their heads.

It was—daddy's cigar!

"You little rascals," cried daddy, catching them up close and cuddly. "What in the world are you doing out here?"

Are You Doing Your Share To Keep Well?

Are you sure you are doing your part to keep well and keep your family well?

Do you keep your house clean and well aired?

Is your drinking water safe? If it comes from a spring or a well, are you sure that no drainage from a privy, cesspool or stable can pollute the water?

Is the milk which your children drink either pasteurized or scalded? Do they each receive three glasses of milk daily?

Is the baby nursed at the breast as he should be? Is he kept clean? Does he get plenty of fresh air and is he kept out of the hot, stuffy kitchen? Do you know that bottle babies should have orange juice each day after the first month?

Do you know that flies and mosquitoes carry disease, and do you keep them out of your house by proper screening?

Do you know that all colds are "catching" and may lead to dangerous diseases in others, especially children?

Do you know that sickness is often spread by dirty hands? Do you always wash your hands before eating or handling food?

Answered

Q. Can tonsils be shrunk up by taking medicine internally? Would you advise such treatment in place of removal by operation?

A. Usually little or nothing is accomplished in chronically enlarged tonsils by internal medication. If the tonsils are very large and cause obstruction, most physicians advocate their removal by surgical operation. Be sure to discuss your condition with your physician.

ANCIENT FURNITURE BEING COLLECTED BY ORDER OF PREMIER CLEMENCEAU

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Historic pieces of furniture and those which have the merit of being ancient, have been collected from various governmental offices by order of Premier Clemenceau, and sent to the Museum of Decorative Arts. Among them are a secretary and a desk owned by Louis XV., a Louis XIV. sideboard and a wonderful screen of the same period. M. Clemenceau wished to preserve these souvenirs, as he is able to recall an occasion when a minister of war got rid of a piece of furniture which a dealer in antiques bought for about 100 francs, had repaired and sold for 50,000 francs.

When I wash dishes I like to use a dish mop. In cold weather especially this means a lot to my hands. Dish water is hard on hands in spite of what some people say.

By using a dish mop it is possible to use much hotter water to wash the dishes in, for only one hand needs to be put into water and that one just for an instant to get hold of the article being washed.

From a sanitary point of view perhaps the mop needs a little greater care than the ordinary dish cloth. The strings are tightly bound around the handle, making a very compact swab. However, a thorough scrubbing after each using and a daily sunning will keep it perfectly sweet and clean.

THE GERMAN MARK

HAS DWINDLED

BY FRANK W. ROSTOCK,
Editor Cincinnati Post, N. Y. A. Correspondent in Europe

BREMEN, Germany, Jan. 13.—The German mark is associating with the lowest of the lowly—it no longer is in a class with the coins of the United States, Holland, England and France, and, by the way, they rank just in about the order named.

My first acquaintance with the German mark of the vintage of 1913 was made at a bank in Rotterdam where I exchanged Dutch money for German before crossing the frontier.

At that time the mark was worth a little less than 3 cents. At one time it was worth approximately 24.

Has Paralyzed Germany

The fall of the mark has done more to paralyze Germany than any one other thing with the exception, of course, of the loss of the war.

Fortunes have been swept away with the fall of the mark. The man who was able to spend a mark at a time in the olden days used to cut some figure. The man who spends less than 50 marks at a time now isn't noticed.

The American dollar is the king-see of the money world and when the "auslander" wanders into Germany with his United States coin, he is the cock of the walk.

Gold and Silver Mining

An overcoat that cost 50 marks in Germany, before the war, costs 300. A pair of shoes which were surrendered for 15 marks, now cannot be bought for less than 200 or 300.

Hotel rooms costing three and one-half marks before the war are now 100 marks, with 20 per cent added for service.

The balance of trade has gone against Germany ever since the start of the war in 1914 and promises to go against her for some time to come. Germany practically is without gold and silver.

The nation depends chiefly upon its industries for its prosperity. When the German mark is on a par with the money of other countries and when the German is able to purchase unlimited amounts of raw materials, Germany is a prosperous country.

German political and industrial leaders look to America for salvation. They expect help from the land of the American dollar.

HAZIL FOR SUFFRAGE

Brazil is entering the suffrage race according to reports reaching this country. A bill, the purpose of which is to grant the right of suffrage to the women of Brazil, has been introduced into the senate of that country. This bill provides that suffrage should be granted to women 21 years of age or over.

Mayor and Commissioner In Verbal Clash at Meeting of the Municipal Council

Commissioner Murphy Asks Mayor To Explain State- ment Appearing in His Honor's Inaugural—Mayor Charges Inconsistency—"Lying Awake o' Nights" and "Remember Your Oath of Office" Part of Snappy Dialogue at Today's Meeting

A lively verbal tilt between Mayor Perry D. Thompson and Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy of the street department featured this morning's regular weekly meeting of the municipal council. It was at the tail-end of the meeting that the discussion arose when Commissioner Murphy asked the mayor to "interpret" his statement that all loans should be discussed thoroughly by the council previous to the day of their passage. The mayor proceeded to do so and the commissioner stated emphatically that he did not intend to come into the aldermanic chamber 20 times a week to discuss money matters.

The mayor referred to a loan order introduced by Commissioner Murphy last year in the mayor's absence which was passed and later rescinded, the commissioner being one of the members of the council who voted to rescind it.

"You commissioners weren't consistent when you voted for an order one day and then voted to rescind it and take half the money the next day," the mayor said.

"I voted to rescind the order so that you wouldn't lie awake nights worrying about it, Mr. Mayor," said the commissioner.

"Don't you worry about my lying awake nights," replied the mayor; "you remember your oath of office, Commissioner Murphy."

"I'll do my duty," the commissioner replied.

The tilt dragged the meeting out for 20 minutes after the transaction of business had been completed and lasted even after the council had formally adjourned. In the course of the meeting the mayor had referred to a part of his inaugural address in

TO INVESTIGATE ARMY AWARDS

Cong. Gallivan Urges Congressional Probe of War
Decorations

Says Home Service Men
Have No Space Left on Coats To Display Medals

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Urging congressional investigation of the award of army decorations for services during the war, Representative Gallivan, Massachusetts, declared in the house today, that more distinguished service medals in proportion were awarded to army officers who never got nearer the front than Washington, than to those who saw service overseas.

"It is common talk in the army," said Mr. Gallivan, "that our present chief of staff and one of his assistants, a colonel, whose duty it was to escort and dine foreign missions here in Washington, have no space left between their belts and their collars to display the medals that have been given them as a result of this service."

Congress should investigate all awards of medals and crosses, Mr. Gallivan said, so as to determine why some recommendations were acted upon favorably and others disregarded.

"The Distinguished Service Medal has been cheapened and certainly ridiculed by the bold and brazen manner in which it has been passed out to those who belong to the select," said Mr. Gallivan. "It has been used as a reward for friendship; it has even been used to placate those who have been removed to make way for someone else."

"The reading of the sum total of the citations in awarding the Distinguished Service Medal to several chair officers of the general staff, who never left Washington during the war, if believed, would certainly impress one that the war was fought with red ink at mahogany desks near the shadows of the Washington monument."

"Surely the 'lounge lizards' of the 'second army of the Potomac' can have no quarrel with their comrades, the 'lucky lancers' of the capital, as to the number of D. S. M.'s these two valiant units received for heroic service in this war."

"Me and Gott" Outdone

"As for France, whenever the commander-in-chief sent a 'commissioner messenger boy' on an errand, the D. S. M. was sure to be the reward. > "In Washington we had four different chiefs of staff during the war, and everyone who knows anything at all about the workings of the war department, knows that the predecessors of the present high priest of Prussianism, General Peyton C. March, were considered unequal to the task. Through one pretense or another they were removed."

"Ordinarily when a man has failed in the performance of any specific task, he is removed without reward. These men have on the other hand been rewarded in the name of the president of the United States by the bestowal upon them of the D.S.M."

"The kaiser," continued Mr. Gallivan, "with some spark of appreciation for consistency yet alive, said: 'Me and Gott.' Not so your chief of staff, U. S. A., Peyton C. March, who sees no reason for including 'Gott.' It is simply 'Me' with him."

Cites Gen. Wood's Case

"In France there was a board of awards of medals that sat in Chaumont and looked with easy favor on giving awards to their friends and with blind eyes and deaf ears to recommendations of those without the pale."

"The failure to send Major General Leonard Wood overseas in command of troops was a 'case of international notoriety,' Mr. Gallivan said, adding that General Wood "was never given an important active command during the war," but "to placate public opinion, something must be done."

"The bestowal of the D.S.M. on General Wood," he continued, "is heartily approved by the entire military service. I am told, but the reason for such bestowal looks like an interrogation point in the minds of everyone who has a knowledge of General Wood's treatment."

"Junkmen" Decorated
Inquiry also should be made into cases of civilians who received medals, declared Mr. Gallivan, who charged that "Eisenmann, of Cleveland, who was mixed up in the clothing and shoddy graft and also in the rag picking graft, appears to have got a medal."

"It has been whispered that other 'junkmen' have been so honored," said he.

Arsenic in Cookies Kills Little Eleanor Petrie--Other Children Ill

Case Reported to District Attorney by Medical Examiner Thomas B. Smith--Report of Contents of Arsenic Made Public at District Attorney's Office Today--Further Investigation

On Thursday, Jan. 8, fourteen-months-old Eleanor Petrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Petrie of 43 Crescent street, this city, was taken violently ill after eating a molasses cookie and died two days later. Two other children, Cecil, aged 5, and Erdine, aged 9, who also ate molasses cookies, became very sick but recovered. Little Eleanor died Saturday, Jan. 10.

Medical Examiner Thomas B. Smith performed an autopsy on the body and as a result of his findings reported the matter to District Attorney Nathan D. Tufts. A further investigation was taken up through the district attorney's office and traces of arsenic were found in the cookies, sustaining the report of the medical examiner and other local physicians who assisted him in the autopsy.

The report of the findings of the investigation, however, was not made public until this afternoon when it was given out at the office of the district attorney and after a conference at which Medical Examiner Smith was present. Later in the day the medical examiner and State Officer Silas Smith took samples of the cookies to the Harvard medical school for further analysis, and to ascertain how much arsenic they contain.

The cookies were purchased in a Lowell store.

MINE OWNERS TO ACCEPT AWARD

With a Single Reservation,
They Will Agree to Any
Decision of Commission

Will Not Be Party to Fixing
of Prices Beyond Period of
Lever Act Effectiveness

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Mine operators in the central competitive field today told the commission named to settle the bituminous coal strike that they would accept, with a single reservation, any award the commission might make.

The operators said they would not be a party to the fixing of coal prices beyond the period of effectiveness of the Lever law, the war-time measure under which the government has controlled food and fuel prices. Ralph Crews, counsel for the Central Operators, explained that without making this reservation the operators could not legally join any price-fixing agreement. He also said the operators would not make their acceptance of the commission's award contingent upon the preparation of answers to a series of questions which the operators yesterday asked the commission.

In accepting the commission's authorization, the operators, Mr. Crews said, understood that the commission's award should "of itself constitute a final contract between the miners and operators for the period of time fixed by the commission."

President Robinson reminded him that President Wilson's letter creating the commission authorized it only to make an award which might be used as "a basis for a wage contract." He asked if the operators would not modify the language in their acceptance accordingly, and Mr. Crews finally agreed that the commission should determine that point.

"The mine workers understand that the award shall be a basis of a new wage agreement and not of itself an agreement," said John L. Lewis, acting president of the mine workers. "I trust the record is not being made here which can be used subsequently as a basis for a refusal by the operators to write into a wage agreement the commission's award."

SAYS U. S. TO OCCUPY NORTHERN MEXICO

GRANADA, Spain, Monday, Jan. 12.—Dr. Rios, a professor at the University and a socialist deputy who was named delegate to the labor conference at Washington, recently attacked the American government and press while delivering a lecture. He said the former had placed "every obstacle in the way of socialist representatives from abroad," while American newspapers had "given little space to the conference and what comment had been devoted to it was hostile to socialists, because the United States intends to occupy northern Mexico against socialist principles."

BAR EXHUMATION OF CORP. MORAN'S BODY

MADRID, Sunday, Jan. 11.—Sanitary authorities have definitely refused to grant permission for the exhumation of the remains of Corporal Moran, killed in 1917 when an American vessel was sunk by a German submarine. The law stipulates the remains must not be taken from the grave for five years. The destroyer Thorston which arrived at Coruna to take the body back to the United States on Dec. 24, has proceeded to Lisbon and will probably visit England before her return to America.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson has been notified by naval authorities of the receiving ship at Boston that Frederick Marshall of 6 Conlon street, this city, is missing from duty and that unless he returns by Jan. 18 will be declared a deserter.

900 PERISHED CITY BURIED

Chilchotla Covered to Depth of 60 Feet With Rocks and Debris

Relief Parties Hampered
Because of Great Chasms
in the Earth

MEXICO CITY, Monday, Jan. 12.—Apprehension was caused here tonight by the failure of special press despatches to arrive from the earthquake zone in the state of Vera Cruz.

Except for details of relief measures, the only reports relative to the earthquake were those given out by the interior department from official despatches received from former Governor Alfonso Cabrera of the state of Puebla. In transmitting advices from Chilchotla, he said, there were 71 deaths at Oaxaca, 200 at Chilchotla, and 23 at Quimixtlan. He said he had no knowledge of the number of casualties in other villages reported destroyed or damaged in that region.

A supplementary despatch from Senor Cabrera stated Chilchotla had been covered to the depth of 60 feet with rocks and debris from nearby hills. Relief parties have been unable to reach Chilchotla, Quimixtlan and Patlanalan because of great chasms in the earth. Huixtla is also reported to have been destroyed.

JAPANESE ARMS FOR MEXICO

Steamer Bearing Arms and

Simultaneously

Senate Committee Gets Re-
port Federal Forces Now
Well Equipped

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 13.—The senate sub-committee investigating the Mexican situation today had a report at Manzanillo, Mexico, Dec. 21 last, for the Carranza government arrived at Manzanillo, Mexico, Dec. 21 last, simultaneously with the Japanese cruiser Yakuma. The report was known at army headquarters here and was forwarded to the war department at Washington.

The Yakuma apparently was escorting the ship bearing the arms and ammunition, which had been purchased in Japan through Col. Emilio Ciercos, of the Mexican army, and Manuel Perez Romero, then Mexico minister at Tokio.

Recent reports from Mexico indicate federal troops in the state of Chihuahua are better equipped than they have been for a long time. Considerable numbers of machine guns recently have been received, it is said.

Did Not Act As Escort

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Intelligence officers of the war department are satisfied after an investigation that the simultaneous arrival at Manzanillo, Mexico, of a steamer bearing arms and munitions from Japan and the Japanese cruiser Yakuma, had no connection. These officers said today that the Yakuma was a training ship and could not have protected the munitions ship even had there been occasion for the effort.

COMMUNITY SERVICE WORK

Comprehensive Summing Up
of Its Aims at Meeting
Last Evening

Community Council Seeks
the Co-operation of the
Entire City

What Community Service is, from whence it came, its place in a city, its present activities and future aims were clearly set forth last evening when the community council, made up of representatives of 40 organizations, met at dinner at the Community club in Dutton street.

Macklin Beattie, girls' division director; Hugh J. Molloy, vice president of Lowell Community service; Frederick N. Wier, vice president, and W. C. MacBrayne.

It was the first meeting of the council, which is expected to grow to several times its present size, or until every Lowell organization and group of people banded together for a specific purpose, is represented therein by an accredited delegate.

In the words of Mr. Molloy, the council will be a sort of regeneration of the old town meeting, a forum for the free expression of public opinion and the consideration of all things aiming toward community betterment and expansion.

Otto Hockmeyer Presides
Following an excellent dinner, prepared and served by the restaurant staff of the club, Mr. Lyon in charge, Otto Hockmeyer, serving as chairman, opened the business of the evening by briefly outlining the entire scheme of community service in a broad way and left the detailed explanations to those speakers who were to follow.

Mr. Hockmeyer traced the growth of the present organization from War Camp Community service and touched upon the four present activities: Girls' club, Community club, employment bureau and information stand at the depot. The community council is the fifth activity, he said, while the community forum in the process of development, will be the sixth.

"Lowell has taken over a great responsibility, which it seems willing to assume," he said. "For some time there has seemed to me to be a link missing in our plan of Americanization, and I feel very sure that Community Service is this missing link."

Community Service in Action
Benjamin S. Pouzner was called on to explain community service in action.

"Enough people in Lowell already have shown an interest in community service to create the feeling that it is wanted here. Community service means co-operation with every other organization in the city, to promote, encourage, assist and carry on social and civic activities in the city. Community service will not compete with any other group or body of men or women. Its work will not duplicate

What Famous Actors Do for Their Teeth

No class—dresses appearance so much as those of the stage and films, and their teeth come first. They want them clean and highly polished.

Opell Lean, who has the most perfect teeth on the American stage, uses Albodon Dental Cream. So do Cleo Mayfield, Emmy Wehlen, Mae Murray and the great star of the Follies, Eddie Cantor. They take no chances with potash and carbolic acid tooth pastes, with gritty things that wear away enamel.

Albodon is calcium carbonate, saponified and mixed with the well-known antiseptic oils of clove, cinnamon and eucalyptus, which authorities declare is the efficient and safe composition for women and children, and so naturally for you. It is in equal parts cleansing, polishing and antiseptic. A tube containing 55 brushings is sold everywhere with the guarantee that Albodon will satisfy your taste.—Adv.

or overlap the promotion of ideas by other organizations. It simply wants to help in every way it can in every good work.

He covered in detail the workings of the four major activities, as outlined above. Speaking of the Meis' club, he said the city owed it to its service men as a duty to provide them a club home. It is not a charity, he continued, but a civic duty. He spoke of the service rendered to the Lowell Post of the American Legion by the club and said that in no other way could the post have advanced so smoothly during its days of organization and early development. "We have the complete machinery here for carrying out the every wish of the legion and without the facilities we placed at its command, I doubt seriously if its membership today would have been so large had not this club provided the home."

In speaking of the Girls' club, Mr. Pouzner said it does not conflict with the Y.W.C.A. or any other women's organization. "All other girls' associations might be taxed to capacity," he said, "yet there would be plenty of Lowell girls left over for a splendid, big Girls' Community Service club."

He explained the system of club government through a series of rotating committees and outlined the functions of the officers of the organization.

Affairs and Directors
As a means of refreshing the memory, the officers are herewith given: President, Otto Hockmeyer; vice presidents, Hugh J. Molloy and Frederick N. Wier; treasurer, George E. King; clerk, John J. Flaherty; secretary, H. S. Pouzner; board of directors, Chas. E. Anderson, Frederick C. Chasch, John J. Flaherty, Otto Hockmeyer, Geo. E. King, Miss Alice T. Lee, Judge John C. Leggat, Hugh J. Molloy, Mrs. Louis A. Olney, Mrs. William L. Robertson, Robert R. Thomas, Samuel H. Thompson and Frederick N. Wier.

The Girls' Club
Miss J. Macklin Beattie, director of the Girls' club, was the next speaker. She gave a most illuminating and interesting resume of the work being accomplished with, for and by 1300-odd girls in the headquarters in the Runels building. The domestic science, household arts and home nursing classes being maintained were explained and the recreational side of the club was given a complete explanation.

Miss Beattie also touched upon an entirely new development of the work, when she outlined the scheme for the ultimate transformation of the Runels building headquarters into a community centre for women, with the Girls' club its principal activity, but removed to a home of its own, self-supporting and self-managed.

"We expert workers and organizers do not intend to stay always in Lowell," she said, "and for this reason our work here is largely instructive. We are training women and girls in the community to carry on and perpetuate the work we have begun."

Frederick N. Wier, one of the vice presidents, explained the employment bureau being operated as a community activity. "Our aim is not merely getting men for jobs and jobs for men, but something larger—a system for directing men into pursuits for which they are best fitted," he said. "That is a place of real Community Service work, which will make for better relationships between employer and employee."

Town Meeting Revived
Hugh J. Molloy gave a clear definition of the community council plan by comparing it to the old form of town meeting, as a forum of expressed public opinion. "We have in Lowell many

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Mid-Winter Festival week at B. F. Keith's theatre finds an excellent bill of varied characteristics on tap for local vaudeville patrons. A wealth of good-looking girls sprinkled sunning over the greater part of the program, there is an abundance of dancing, several fingers of real merit, and a happy average to each act that make the week's collection distinctly inviting.

Heading the list is Johnnie Ford and his five melody maids in a potpourri of singing, dancing and piano playing of more than average "musical comedy" calibre. The offering opens with Ford singing a little in introductory bit to his audience and then presenting each of his maids with song and dancing. The Boston girl, Frisco girl, Philadelphia girl, Chicago girl and New Yorker all the types of those cities, are introduced, one by one, and with Ford bring out the characteristics of the girls they represent.

Then comes a little "presto" activity on the part of Ford and the scene changes to a music room with the maids in evening gowns each at a piano. From then on there is a series of new songs, novelty dances and able tickling of the ivories. A neat act is this of Ford's with plenty of color and life.

An unusual comedy skit entitled, "Hill Hill Hill" is presented by William Greer and Wendell. The act is clearly evident except that it may be a representation on paper of almost continual chuckling of the husband who married what he thought to be a "clinging vine" type of wife but five years later wakes up to the fact that he has chosen for better or worse an up and coming club woman, with advanced ideas of woman's rights, etc.

Another part of the act is given over to an argument between him and his wife and in this Greer is given an excellent opportunity to work in some of the most comical material. Eventually he impresses on his wife the fact that her becoming a club woman has left him without a home and he decides to leave her. The ending of the affair is too good to be divulged here.

Relph Ash and Sam Hyams are comedians of out of the ordinary ability. Hyams plays the part of the Hebrew merchant and Ash the role of the young millionaire who seeks to enlighten his friend on various facts of life. His struggles in this task were especially amusing to last evening's audience and the two were given a big hand.

Miss Ayre was an added feature at "Miss Ayre's" performances and she proved to be one of the best hits of the bill. She sings only two or three songs, nothing of the ultra-modern variety but sings them with such patient grace and artistry that the audience was loath to have her leave.

Hazel and Vivian Follis, the "Kinger snap girls" are full of pep, as their name implies. Varied costumes and extremely novel dancing numbers form the bulk of their entertainment.

The Brower Trio, in "A Study in Sympathy" have a first class musical act that was well received last evening. Charles and Anna Glocker present a water juggling act that is new to the theatre.

Ray Stanley and Harry Dale are white-faced minstrels that open the bill excellently.

Charles Chaplin, in the fourth of his million-dollar pictures, "A Day of Pleasure," lived up to all anticipations yesterday and the ludicrous adventures of the Chaplin family and their Ford had everybody in a roar.

The Kinogram News Weekly has its usual quota of timely views and Topics of the Day couldn't be better.

Excellent seats for the remaining performances of the week may be obtained in advance at the box office. Phone 28.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Johnny, Get Your Gun," a side-splitting comedy in three acts and a prologue by Edmund Lawrence Burke and Dorothy Donnelly, is the offering of the Lowell Players at the Opera House this week. The first performance given yesterday afternoon, and last evening were greatly enjoyed by large audiences, and all indications point to a capacity house during the remainder of the week.

The story opens in a movie studio in Los Angeles where Johnny Wiggins, erstwhile con-puncher, is re-enacting the first of his films. The first scene is that of a man who is being strangled by a woman who is too hazardous for the "hero" invariably falls on Johnny, and finally he decides to come east. How in the effect ends the straightening out the tangles in the life of a friend, and prevents the marriage of a penniless duke and a charming young American girl, is a story that will hold one's interest until the final curtain, and is guaranteed to furnish a laugh a minute.

John McLean as Johnny Wiggins is seen in one of the best roles in which he has yet appeared and gained even more friends by his splendid interpretation of the character. Miss Margaret

Re Fields, as Jordan, a maid in the family which plans to sacrifice their daughter for a little, also has a part which she makes the most of.

Walter Buckley, as the Duke of No Moor, proved that as a comedian he is in a class by himself.

Other actors in this work are Russ Carter, Arthur Mack, Jack Bennett, William Melville, Howard Merritt, Bert Dayton, Floyd Rogers, Miss Helen Freshburn, Miss Rosella Kowles, Miss Betty White and Director J. Francis Kirk.

THE STRAND THEATRE

Charles Chaplin, Viola Dana and other famous stars of the Strand theatre for the first three days of the week. Charlie appears in a very clever comedy entitled "A Day of Pleasure," while Viola Dana holds the title role in a drama entitled "The Willow Tree." Love is the theme of the comedy, and according to many each of the three is worth the price of admission. In addition there is a new musical comedy as well as several interesting and instructive films of the Universal Weekly type and very enjoyable musical selections.

With the kiddos and even a great number of adults, Charlie Chaplin is the "king" of the bill. He appears in one of his latest and probably his last million-dollar comedy, which is a farce from horizontal.

Charlie goes through all sorts of stunts of the laugh-creating variety and all the while the film is being unrolled, audiences are in a constant state of laughter. See Charlie and you will laugh.

"The Willow Tree," in which Viola Dana is the star, deals with a young Englishman who after being rejected by his sweetheart for a richer man, goes to Japan and forgets everything. In the end he finds that she has become an old woman who has an image on which is carved the features of a beautiful girl. He buys it and takes it home with him. He is so attached to the figure, which concerns the spirit of the willow tree and he is told if he places a mirror in the room of the willow tree, he will find out if she does and the Japanese comes to life and a great love affair follows. But this is interrupted by his fiancée, who is really interesting.

In "Pleasure" Charlie Chaplin portrays the character of a happy, bright-eyed Irish lass, who gets a lesson in life to make every one around her happy. She succeeds but not before having gone through a series of adventures. "Pleasure" is a delightful play and one that is sure to please everyone. At yesterday's performance it was announced that next Thursday evening's Matinee Love money, and the Matinee in person and this announcement was well received.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Ethel Clayton, Hobart Bosworth and Charlie Chaplin are the three capable stars who make the program at the Merrimack Square theatre for the first part of the week one of the most excellent and enjoyable that that popular playhouse has presented for some time.

Miss Clayton plays the lead in Robert Hughes' famous story of modern marriage, "The Undercurrent," a select special. Empey's story is brilliant, farcical and a mighty wallop to the part of the week.

The story of "Behind the Door" is a story of a man who is being strangled by a woman who is too hazardous for the "hero" invariably falls on Johnny, and finally he decides to come east. How in the effect ends the straightening out the tangles in the life of a friend, and prevents the marriage of a penniless duke and a charming young American girl, is a story that will hold one's interest until the final curtain, and is guaranteed to furnish a laugh a minute.

bound from start to finish. It is a thrilling narrative of tremendous dramatic strength at times and the finale, which is disclosed by shadows "behind the door" and which breathes tragedy born of relentless vengeance of a man who has been deeply wronged, is one of the strongest seen by motion picture audiences here in many a day.

A detailed portrayal of the affair would be out of place here. Bosworth is supported by Jane Novak, and the two form a team seemingly invincible.

Ethel Clayton in "The Thirteenth Commandment" plays the role of a girl who decides that when she marries she will not do up merely to be supported by her husband. When the time eventually comes for her marriage it is with the understanding that she is to share "50-50" with her better half not only in the various struggles and triumphs that destiny may have for them, but in the financial support of the home as well. Her adventures follow this decision from a most dramatic and entertaining production. As usual, Miss Clayton is the high class actress of real artistry.

THE OWL THEATRE

If your friend or neighbor greeted you with an unusually cheerful smile this morning it's a safe bet he was one of the many who thoroughly enjoyed the comedy "A Day of Pleasure," which he saw at the Owl theatre.

It was certainly a sure crowd, capacity audiences all day and, what is more, it was so show. Three big features, three corking good features. Charles Chaplin in his fourth million-dollar comedy, "A Day of Pleasure," and oh! what a day it was for Charlie, all kinds of trouble with the old driver, with every one who sees can understand the excitement.

It's all funny! It's good, wholesome comedy and anyone, young or old, will feel like a better winter spending half an hour with the king of comedians.

Chaplin goes on four times today and tomorrow, at 1.10, 4.05, 7 p. m. and the last time at 9.55 p. m. patrons are urged to see the entire show which is wonderfully balanced. Ordinarily a feature such as Chaplin is sufficient, the remainder of the bill being made up of fillers. Such is not the case here, however, for there is first—Bessie Barriscale in "Reckoning Roads," a compelling dramatic story, with Miss Barriscale at the head and though the wrong road often "beckoned," right triumphed and everybody was happy at the end. The big punch, "The House-Run Wallop," as they say in Lowell, comes in Guy Empey's newest picture, "The Undercurrent," a select special. Empey's story is brilliant, farcical and a mighty wallop to the part of the week.

THE OWL

A WORD TO BOYS FROM DR. POPE

"Now that young America—Boy Scouts and other organizations—are taking to the woods, once more," writes Dr. Pope, noted archer, "I sincerely hope archery will become recognized as the king of outdoor sports. It is to stimulate interest in bowmanship that I gladly relate to the boys of Lowell, young and old, the experiences of Arthur Young and myself in hunting big game with this weapon of real sportsmanship. With my next story I'll tell you just how to make a hunting bow."

ANGERED BEAR IS SLAIN WITH BOW AND ARROW

Old Guide Stands Ready With Gun if Archers Fail—Steel Tip Arrows Drop Big Bruin From Tree Limb

Written Especially for The Sun.
BY DR. SAXTON POPE
(America's Most Expert Bowman)

"Expect to kill a bear with them gim-cracks?" snorted Tom Murphy, "The Bear Slayer of Humboldt county," referring to our bows, when Arthur Young and I asked him to guide us on our first hunt of the California Cinnamon with this weapon.

After considerable persuasion, he decided to humor us—carrying his trusty rifle by way of precaution. "I won't use her unless necessary," he promised, "but I'll feel mighty lonesome without her, because bears are apt to act sudden and unexpected."

We were willing to accept this as reasonable, since Murphy has not been innumerable and has killed upwards of 300. And so we set out, taking Tom's tried Kentucky pack of hounds. After several days hunting in which went at her throat as she felt; but there was no struggle—she was stone-dead when we reached her side.

All but one of our arrows had gone completely through the animal, the one we killed rabbits and squirrels with blunt arrows, the dogs finally struck a hot bear trail, and things began to happen fast.

After half an hour's yapping through the brush, the pack brought a female brown bear, weighing about 150 pounds, to bay. When we came up the brute had gone to tree and was crouching some 75 feet up in the branches of a fir on a mountain slope.

Before he permitted us to bend our bows, Murphy took his dogs away and tied them up. The old guide never risks his pack after they've bayed the game—for a wounded bear will fight.

"Now," he said, fidgeting his rifle nervously, "fire away with your gim-cracks. I'll probably have to finish the job for you, but I promised you first chance."

Young and I carefully drew a bead on the bear with our cloth-yard shafts and let fly. It was no easy target, but both arrows struck Mrs. Bruin full in the chest and went completely through feathers and all.

She came scrambling down the tree, shocked and extremely peeved, and we let her have two more arrows in the side as she lunged off down the hill. Tom let loose one dog—an old-timer who could be counted upon to look out for himself—and we went charging through the underbrush after our quarry.

The bear went to tree again in about five minutes—much to Tom's surprise. She was weak from loss of blood and could only climb about 20 feet into the branches.

At that range Young and I shot seven more arrows into her body and into her head—and down she tumbled. The dogs, which had been unleashed by the now-convinced Murphy,ception being the one which Young had driven into her head. The broken end of this was lodged six inches deep behind the eye.

Following an examination, Murphy somewhat grudgingly admitted that our first two arrows were probably fatal. We simply fired the other arrows because we were excited and didn't know just how much killing a cinnamon bear needed.

She was not a massive animal; but the same shots which accounted for her would have finished a grizzly. Murphy admitted that, too.

As for excitement—well, if winging steel-headed arrows into a bear at thirty yards doesn't beat plugging one with soft-nosed bullets at two hundred I don't know what real sport is.

AMERICAN LEGION
INSTALLS OFFICERS

Fully 1200 members of Lowell Post, 57, American Legion, completely filled the assembly hall of the Community Club last evening at the annual and first formal installation of officers. State Commander Edward L. Logan was not able to be present at the last moment because of the serious illness of his father, and in his stead, Mayor Perry D. Thompson delivered the principal address. Commander Dudley L. Page of Post 42, G.A.R. also was present at an honored guest.

The installation ceremony was simple and consisted mainly of the seating of the new officers as their names were called by Vice-Commander John O'Rourke, retiring. The following men were seated: Commander Luther B. Faulkner; senior vice commander, Arthur P. Moran; junior vice commander, Stephen Garrity; adjutant, James P. McCreedy; treasurer, Eli H. Hart; chaplain, Rev. William F. Mahan, D. M.; historian, Michael P. Quinn.

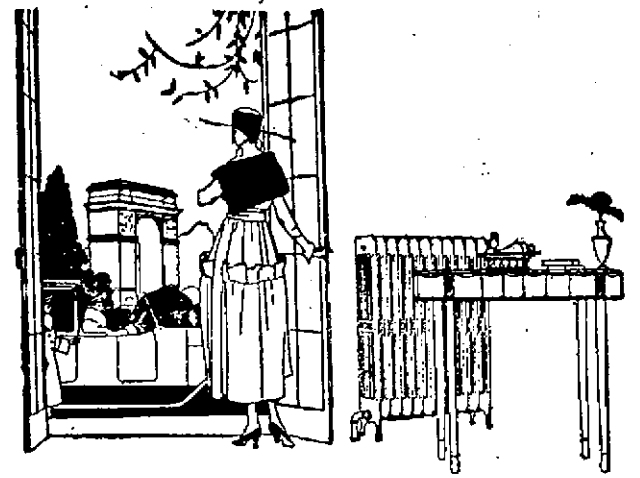

Mayor Thompson was introduced and said he felt something like a pinch hitter, filling in at the last moment in place of State Commander Logan, who was unable to be present. The mayor spoke in glowing terms of the accomplishments of the men during the days of war, which are a matter of record, and then turned to the things of civilian life which face them. He took up religion and education as vast fields of united endeavor in a fight to create a true Americanism and urged a never ceasing campaign for the development of a fine type of citizen.

His Honor suggested that the post institute the ceremony at the time of installation each year, of reading from the roll the names of the members who have died during the year passed and moments of quiet reflection as the names of former comrades are perpetuated in this manner.

Dudley L. Page spoke briefly in a happy vein and thanked the post for the honor of being allowed to attend the meeting.

Commander Faulkner's inaugural speech was not long and was confined principally to internal problems which face the post. He urged acceptance of the constitution and by-laws as a working basis and emphasized the importance of a complete organization of the membership of 2000. He reminded the members that a great Americanization project faced the legion all over the country and characterized radicals, reds and anarchists as "the enemies of democracy."

Daniel Gray, George "Babe" Rogers and John O'Grady entertained with songs, while William Carr, John McArdo and William P. McCarthy added whistling solos, songs, dancing and pin-

RULES FOR LIQUOR IN HOMES ISSUED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The bureau of internal revenue has instructed its collectors to see that persons having in storage warehouses, safe deposit vaults, and other places legally acquired, intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes shall not remove them to their private dwellings after January 17. A warning to those who possess such liquors will be issued by revenue agents at once.

Liquors bought prior to July 1, 1919, are held as "legally acquired."

A notice to the collector of New York by the commissioner of internal revenue yesterday said:

"Persons having legally acquired intoxicating liquor cannot leave such intoxicating liquor in storage warehouses after January 17, 1920, except in compliance with the procedure hereinafter set forth and cannot after Jan. 17 withdraw any such liquor from such storage warehouse for beverage purposes."

Rules for Private Dwellings

"Persons possessing intoxicating liquors in their private dwellings must not continue such possession after January 17 unless such dwellings are occupied and used by them for dwelling purposes only and if such liquors are used for personal consumption must be only by the owners of the dwellings and their families residing in such dwellings or of their bona fide private guests while being entertained therein. Such liquors must not under any circumstances be removed to the dwellings of the owners from storage warehouses after January 17.

"Persons who have intoxicating liquors in their private dwellings for use as contemplated by Sec. 23 of title 2 of the national prohibition act will not make report of these liquors.

"If intoxicating liquors are found in storage warehouses or other places, except private dwellings, on and after Feb. 1, 1920, and report of same has not been made by the owners, such possession will be prima facie evidence of illegal possession and the intoxicating liquors will be subject to seizure, and the place where stored may be declared a public and common nuisance.

"In cases where liquors are stored in a public warehouse or other place of storage, subject to the orders of the owners thereof, the proprietor of such warehouse or place of deposit should make a full report of all such liquors. Such liquors will, however, be nevertheless subject to seizure where they have not been reported by owners.

"All hotels or other similar places now possessing intoxicating liquors, and held for service or for beverage purposes in contemplation of the ban being lifted, will be required to comply with the requirements as to owners.

May Have Liquor in Two Places

"In the event a person has two private dwellings he may legally possess liquors in each place, provided such dwellings are his bona fide places of residence, and so occupied by him, although occupied at different times, if private dwelling is changed, such liquors may be removed under special permit with other household effects to his new private residence, provided such transfer is not in conflict with state laws.

"If a person lives in an apartment house, hotel, or boarding house, and such place is his bona fide residence as described by sections 25 and 33 of title 2 of the national prohibition act, intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes may be possessed by him in such places, provided such intoxicating liquors are held in his room or rooms, or in the lockers of such apartment house, hotel or boarding house over which he has complete and exclusive control, and which are used exclusively for storage purposes, and provided further that such liquors were lawfully acquired and possessed prior to Jan. 17, 1920."

DELAY IN BONUS DUE TO LACK OF FUNDS

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Jan. 13.—Failure of the legislature to give the office of the secretary of state enough money to operate efficiently is responsible for the delay in getting the bonus experienced by widows of men who gave up their lives in France.

This statement is contained in the secretary's report on vital statistics in which it is explained that the legislature turned down a request for an appropriation of $10,000 to be used in indexing the records of births, marriages, divorces and deaths occurring and taking place in the state.

It is pointed out that the state has made ample provision for the registration of vital statistics but that without a proper system of indexing the value of this is lost in a large measure because of the extreme difficulty in getting at particular records.

"The importance of the marriage registration, which is especially necessary, is largely to protect the home and the family and to furnish reliable evidence upon which to base the legitimacy of children and the dower rights of women," the statement reads.

"But notwithstanding the importance of these records to the individual citizen, especially the women, who have a right to expect that the state will perform its duty in recording marriages with precision and promptness, many applicants for certified copies of records of marriages are unable to obtain them from the state division of vital statistics because the records of marriages have not been indexed since 1912. Records are of little value if filed away without being indexed, and although thousands of dollars are expended annually by the commonwealth and by the cities and towns in registering marriages, many citizens of the state are deprived of their rights through the neglect to make suitable financial provision for index work.

"During the last five year period, 167,623 marriages were solemnized in Massachusetts, and many marriages of residents of Massachusetts were solemnized without the commonwealth and recorded here in compliance with the provisions of law. No public library, no business organization could function if it neglected to catalogue or to index 167,623 valuable books or records.

"Yet the commonwealth of Massachusetts has not only failed to make provision for keeping up to date the indexes of this vast number of marriage records of its citizens but has also neglected to make available the 272,000 records of deaths and the 467,000 records of births—a total of 907,000 vital records—and soon there will be enough more to make a grand total of approximately one and one-quarter million vital records, collected, examined, recorded and bound at a cost of thousands of dollars, fled away, unavailable to the citizens and taxpayers of the state except by laborious searching and in many cases not available at all.

"Many widows and children of veterans of the European war have been put to unnecessary delay and inconvenience as a result of this failure to make appropriations for indexes. A recommendation was made by the secretary of the commonwealth for an appropriation of the modest sum of $10,000 for bringing the indexes of births, marriages and deaths up to date in his annual report for 1918. The legislative committee on public health, to whom the report was referred, held a public hearing and reported a bill, which the committee on ways and means, however, reported 'ought not to pass.'

SAYS IRELAND WILL NEVER BE REPUBLIC

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—"There never will be an Irish republic," declared Hon. George Tucker of Marquette, Mich., a national officer of the Sons of St. George, in an address last night on "Americanism," delivered at Tremont Temple to about 150 Americans of British birth.

"It would be suicide for England to give up all authority in Ireland," he continued. "If Ireland were in the Pacific ocean England would gladly give it up. But lying on England's trade routes, the mother country cannot have it a hotbed for such anti-British plots as the Roger Casement affair. She must retain some authority there. England has wronged Ireland and must right the wrong. But that is England's business. There never was a time when the Irish question had a legitimate place in American politics.

"The only way America could help Ireland would be to send a force overseas strong enough to conquer Great Britain. Such a mission will never be launched here. Yet the funds for Ireland go on. If you are going to call the Irish fund anything you must call it a contribution to a lost cause.

"I am not against Ireland. If the two people were left alone they would be all right. England can take care of herself. I protest the exploitation of America to feed agitators in Ireland. I don't know what de Valera has to recommend him to America. He worked insidiously against her when her sons were dying to defend France."

Denouncing de Valera, he declared he was deservingly of the death of Uolo Pasha, the speaker brought his audience to their feet. The entire Irish reference was a spontaneous outburst. His prepared speech was a defense of a broad Americanism.

"The narrow interpretation of American first if practiced would destroy America," he said. "Too many confound hatred of other countries with love for America. He is no true American who would not return to the land of his father, be it England, Ireland or Germany, to fight for the principles of which the American flag is emblematic.

"There is more anti-Americanism in America than the foreign born bring here. Foreign must be used temporarily to hold Bolshevism in check. But force is not the ultimate solution. We need as much salvation from some of our ill-advised time-serving patriots at home as from any invasion."

Mr. Tucker urged that the League of Nations be adopted so that this country might maintain its high influence for world betterment.

John Orrell of Lowell, supreme president of the order, introduced the speaker. Arthur Brown of Brockton presided.

TEACH AND PREACH

REAL AMERICANISM

Declaring that the only way to combat the "reds" is to teach and preach real, genuine Americanism, Rev. C. V. Smith of Somerville, speaking before the Lowell Baptist union at the First Baptist church last evening, urged his hearers to unite in a campaign against bolshevism, and the doctrines for which it stands. The meeting was well attended, and was preceded by an excellent supper served under the direction of Mrs. James Fleming, president of the Benevolent society.

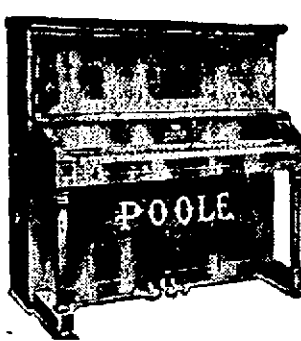

Rev. Mr. Smith paid a fitting tribute to W. E. Symonds, treasurer of the union, who died yesterday after being identified with the organization for several years. All members stood in prayer when Mr. Symonds' death was announced, and a committee on resolutions was formed, consisting of Rev. Asa R. Mills, Rev. H. A. Cornell, and Rev. George R. Myers. A resolution sympathizing with Mr. Symonds' family was also passed.

The city of Sheffield contributed 70 per cent of the war material furnished by private firms in Great Britain during the war, according to a pamphlet issued by the city council.

FREE FOR THIS VISIT

Over before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. Those wishing to see him should remember the Days, Dates and Office Hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

For nearly 15 years I have been studying the Chemistry of food and the Chemistry of the human body. I have put these two sciences together and formulated the science of Applied Food Chemistry. By the application of this knowledge I cure all forms of stomach and intestinal diseases, and all other disorders that result from wrong eating and drinking. This method cannot fail because it conforms to the laws of Nature.

It is estimated that ninety-two per cent. of all diseases are caused by errors in eating. These errors are made by wrong selections, wrong combinations, and wrong proportions of food. I teach you how to correct these, how to select, how to combine and how to proportion your food according to your age and your occupation. This cures by removing causes. It gives Nature a chance. This is the true science of human nutrition, and it is governed by laws as infallible as the laws of gravitation. If you obey them you cannot be sick. If you do not obey them you cannot be well.

You have no idea what your body is capable of, until you have it perfectly nourished. You have no idea what your mind is capable of, until it lives in a perfectly nourished body.

You have no idea of the joy of living until every bone, tissue, muscle and organ of the body is brought up to 100% efficiency, which my system does. If you are sick or have any kind of stomach or intestinal trouble it will require a short term of curative feeding—then I balance the diet so as to give to the body all the elements of nourishment it requires according to your age and your occupation. If medicine is needed in any case I prescribe only such remedies that do not conflict with the proper diet. I get results and this ends all argument.

DR. NAUGHTON will positively be at the New American Hotel, Wednesday, Jan. 14th, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

HARDLY ENOUGH SNOW FOR GOOD SLEDDING

People living in the suburban towns said on Sunday that if another fall of snow came within a day or two, amounting to four or five inches, there would be good sledding for practically the entire winter. Early today it looked as if this foundation for runners would be obtained before night-fall, but the storm which began at 5 o'clock, petered out before noon, with a total fall of less than one inch.

The street railway company made ready for any emergency which might arise and had plows manned at an early hour, but with the thinning out of the storm, the regular cars kept the rails clear.

How Any Woman Can Remove Hairy Growths

(Beauty Culture)

It is no longer necessary for a woman to visit a beauty specialist to have superfluous hairs removed, for, with the aid of a plain delicate paste, she can, in the privacy of her own home, remove even a stubborn growth in a very few minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. This is applied to the hairs and after two or three minutes removed and the skin washed, when it will be left clear and hairless. Be sure you buy real delatone. —Adv.

PEACE CONFERENCE

Plan To Appoint Committee of Ambassadors To Carry on Unfinished Business

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Serious consideration was given by the supreme council this morning to a plan for the appointment of a committee of ambassadors to complete the details for the presentation and signing of the Hungarian peace treaty and to carry through the other unfinished business of the peace conference. The decision, however, was left to the heads of the governments of the principal powers.

The necessity for the return home of the Italian and British members of the council, was advanced as the reason why another organization should be created.

It is thought that the premiers now taking part in the conference here—Clemenceau, Lloyd George and Nitti—will approve of the idea of creating the committee of ambassadors as many questions, likely to come up in future in connection with the execution of the various peace treaties will be diplomatic questions as well as peace problems.

Whether Hugh C. Wallace, the American ambassador, would be a member of the proposed committee, has not been determined.

Modify Hungarian Terms

The council today made a slight modification in the draft of the Hungarian treaty, dealing with the furnishing of coal by Hungary to Poland and Czechoslovakia. The document is now considered as finally shaped.

The council decided that publication of all acts of the peace conference be made in French by the French government and in English by the British.

The subject of the demand by Turkey for a decision regarding the prohibition of business relations between her and the central powers was taken up and it was decided that German goods might be sent to Turkey, but only through third parties.

ALLEGED ASSASSINS OF AMERICANS ARRESTED

MEXICO CITY, Monday, Jan. 12.—Three persons, alleged to be the assassins of Earl Boles and F. N. Orozco declares that others implicated in the tragedy have been located and will be apprehended shortly.

The report says the American consul at Tampico has expressed satisfaction at the efforts of the federal forces to punish offenders there.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Stocks continued under the influence of uncertainty money conditions at the active opening of today's session. Leaders reflecting further selling pressure. Steels, motors, shipbuilders, oilers and textiles were one to three points under yesterday's final prices and rails receded moderately. Equipments and oils showed signs of support at the outset. Mexican Petroleum gaining almost three points, but advances in those issues largely cancelled within the first half-hour.

Rumors that the banks may be compelled to withdraw funds from the open market to meet additional payments to the government accelerated the further reactions of the morning. Much of the selling bore the marks of professional pressure, especially in high priced issues. General Motors and Crucible Steel were the central features of such a movement at declines of 6% and 5% points, respectively.

Irregular rallies set in before noon, but trading halted perceptibly when call money opened at 5 per cent.

The 12 per cent money rate established at midday occasioned a sharp rise in view of recognized conditions and had no appreciable effect upon prices. Such changes as occurred during that period were mainly upward, although limited principally to obscure specialties.

Oils, steels, equipments and motors rallied vigorously in the last hour, despite the further advance of call money to 15 per cent. The closing was firm.
